The N. G. A. College.

[BY J. E. BRADLEY.]

The history of The North Georgia Agricultural College has been marked with splendid annual commencements, but the prospects of one that have gone before are equal to the prospects of the one just approaching. In all respects it is expected to reflect credit and renown upon the institutions heretofore maintained. In fact the degree of the progress of one institution is clearly demonstrated by the amount of genuine patriotism that is vitalized in its annual revels.

President Stewart, the soul worker of such life assisted by the faculty who are using the same energy and determination which the students meet with in the meditation rooms—all are sparing no efforts to make the approaching commencement a success.

There will be several new features to the program this year, some of the old ones being left out, hence it is hoped that a freshness of spirit will pervade the entire exercises since it will be revised. The college music will be made this year by the band from Fort McPherson which is of the 10th United States Infantry. It will add variety to the occasion by giving music both with string and brass instruments. In securing the Fort McPherson band the college deserves to be proud for nothing will add more to the exercises than good music.

On Saturday June 6th at 8 p. m. the Sub Freshman "B" class will have its declamation contest for the first and second gold medals respectively. The "B" class has some splendid declaimers this year and it will be interesting to hear them. On the following Sunday morning the annual sermon will be preached by Dr. Robert Hugh Morris of Barnesville. The ability of Mr. Morris is well known and needs no comment here. After the eleven o'clock sermon there will be no further exercises till Monday morning.

At 10 a. m. will occur the declamation prize contest by the Freshman class. On Monday afternoon at five o'clock the military department will have the sham battle, commanded by Maj. J. F. C. Tillson of the 4th United States Infantry. This battle will approach nearer an actual military battle than there has been in five years as Maj. Tillson has recently returned from regular service in the Philippine Islands.

In place of the Corona Society entertainment the Trustees and Faculty have contributed a fund for an alumni reception to be held on Monday night at 8 o'clock, very likely this will be a memorable event in the history of the college. President Stewart has been receiving letters for some time to the effect that many prominent people will be present on this occasion. This reception has been well planned especially for the official guests, and the one who has the honor of addressing the members on this occasion is Mr. W. F. Craswell of Atlanta. It is hoped that all who are entitled to be present on this notable occasion will avail themselves of an opportunity to do so.

While the Alumni reception is going on the two literary societies will entertain the young people with a Grand Levee on the college campus. This will be a special feature for the young people. The electric lights will add beauty to the attractive features of a blue grass lawn and there will be various kinds of ice refreshments served. Certainly the young man who is fortunate on this occasion will be inspired by the softening silver sentences of the fair, and his once morbid soul will be lifted from the caverned labyrinth of doubt to the future light of hope!

At the hour of 5:30 Tuesday morning the Sophomore class will enter the declamation prize contest. At eleven Hon. A. S. Clay will deliver an address. Mr. Clay is one of Georgia's leading men and he will certainly have an eager and attentive audience. At four o'clock in the afternoon the Sub Freshman "A" class will contest for the oratorical prizes, after which the Battalion will be inspected at 5:45.

On Tuesday night the champion debate will come off. Subject: Resolved: "That Lady McBeth was more blamable for the murder of Duncan than was Macbeth." Both societies have selected able speakers for this occasion and the discussion will certainly be eagerly heard by all. The authorities have arranged to see that order is maintained throughout the discussion, thereby making it more instructive and entertaining to visitors.

On Wednesday Morning will occur the Junior orations at 9:30 after which Hon. E. T. Williams will speak. At 5:30 Wednesday night the Senior class will deliver their orations, and then the delivery of the diplomas will follow. Gov. Terrell is expected to be present Sunday and Monday. Judge Geo. F. Goler and Mr. W. P. Wildrum will represent the University of Georgia at this institution during the commencement here.

With such prospects we feel sure that neither the authorities nor the visitors will be disappointed in their anticipations while here. We wish to say to one and all come. If you live close enough come in your buggy or wagon and you can either camp out with us or visit some friend while you stay. If you live a considerable distance it will be all the more interesting for you to come to this part of North Georgia.

In fact it will be a kind of rehearsal of the past linked to the progress of the present and directed to the prosperity of the future. In such a spirit she will light her bonfires to the visiting hosts and in such a spirit will the radiant spark glimmer from the top of her steeple as the joyful hosts fade away.

Everything in Good Shape.

A visit to the power house of the electric company at New Bridge will show everything to be in first class shape. We venture to ascertain that there is not a plant superior to it in the whole country. Ed and Fred Harst, and Harve and Jack Haley look after the plant, and keep the machinery slick and span all the time. The great dam is a tower of strength, and it seems remarkable that three little strands of wire can transmit its mighty power to Gainesville to light the town and propel the cars which go whizzing over the streets.

The line of the electric roads is graded to New Bridge, and but little work will be necessary before putting down the cross-ties and rails. The company now has hundreds of cross-ties piled along the right-of-way, and the trolley wire will be attached to arms attending from the poles upon which is strung the wires which bring the power into town. It will only take a short time to complete the road as far as New Bridge, once it is under way.—Gainesville News.

Home Life.

A wave of infidelity and a tide of divorce is sweeping among homes from their morning. A halt should be called not only by public opinion, but the courts of the country.

Legislation will not of course, effect a settlement of this perplexing question. It can only lend its help to its solution. Conscience and conviction must be wrought upon if we could see the problem rightly settled.

People of the better classes must set an example. No outside force should be allowed in the home circle. Nothing that can mar or defile should be brought in, and only that which tends to purity cherished there.

It was the comment of one of the richest women in America a few days since, as she sat a courtroom where thirty six undefended divorce suits had been tried in one day: "This is the saddest thing I have ever seen. The women may learn anything about house-keeping, apparently, and instead of attending to household matters after marriage they are without interest in them. They prink up and parade around and then the men prink up and parade around, and trouble follows. It all ends here in the divorce court, as a matter of course. It is a very sad thing, very. You know, I have lived in many hotels and I have seen a great deal of the way these little tragedies start."

This tide of infidelity and easy divorce must be turned back; it to engulf the social fabric. It is in the home that life is moulded and fitted for the strenuous conflicts. It is there that principle is inculcated and lessons taught. Above all, it is there that right examples of home living are illustrated and exemplified.—Nashville American.

Don't Try the Cure.

Tramp—Jus' dropped in, mum, to offer my new cure for indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred ailments, mum. It may prove a great blessing to your family, mum, and I charge you nothing for the prescription.

Lady—Well, I must say that's reasonable enough. What is the cure?

Tramp—Live on plain food and give your rich and indigestible dishes to the poor. I'm the poor, mum.

THE NUGGET.

DAHLONEGA, JUNE 4, 1903.

Published at the Dahlonega, Ga. P. O. as Second Class Matter.

Official Organ of both City and County.

The south is coming to the front in all important enterprises.

The Southern railway is to be double tracked from Washington to Atlanta.

One hundred thousand dollars is being raised to build an additional Methodist church in Atlanta.

Johns Hopkins is a terror to leaders in Atlanta. Several were fined from $5.75 to $15.75 last Friday.

Be careful with your lamps! At York, Pa., the other night, a lady dropped one and was burned to death.

At Canton, Ga., two ladies who are great friends to education, have been put on the board of trustees.

The Minnesota capital which is soon to be completed at a cost of $4,000,000, is constructed entirely of Georgia marble.

Hon. Dupont Clerry, who ran for governor, has been elected president of Wesleyan Female college. He has accepted.

Last week Gibbons, the negro mob, to be lynched in Jefferson county recently, surrendered to the sheriff of that county.

Ex-alderman John M. King of Richmond, Va., has been convicted of bribery and sentenced to the penitentiary for 12 months.

The two new buildings at Millersville for the insane will soon be completed and will give additional room for 500 white patients.

Governor Terrell lately removed the sheriff of Berrien county from office because he is said to be neglecting his duties and is frequently intoxicated.

The Philadelphia Press thinks the plan of two sessions of the Georgia legislature a year is a good one, as one can make laws and the other can repeal them.

On Sunday afternoon in Atlanta during a severe storm lightning killed Miss Lela Higgins. The Georgia Avenue church was burned and thirty-six street cars were knocked out of service.

Last Sunday at William, Ga., two negroes, Andrew Hood and Ed Hood, were shot and killed during a church row by Sandy Dickerson who escaped. Will Jones was probably fatally shot by another negro.

We note from the daily and weekly press of the state that the rank for the judgeship of the supreme court between Judge Fish, the present incumbent, and Judge Newby Krav is attracting considerable attention. Judge Franz is one of the most talented and best known superior court judges in Georgia. If the endorsements he is receiving from the press may be taken as evidence, he will have an easy fight of it.

The flood in Kansas has caused many deaths, much suffering and great loss of property. At Topeka 7,000 crossed over the river to safety but those who remained were the sufferers. Fire broke out and floating houses spread the flames and at least four hundred buildings were destroyed in North Topeka. One preacher and his family remained on top of a house for three days. A mother after holding her year-old-babe for three days and nights in a tree top in plain view of people who were pained to rescue her, became insensible and both dropped into the river and were lost. In two different instances babies were born in floating houses. Some of the 6,000 inmates of the asylum near the river were drowned while being rescued from the buildings.

A Tornado Strikes the City of Gainesville.

Last Monday shortly after noon a terrific tornado struck Gainesville, causing a fearful loss of life in that city. New Holland and White Sulphur, killing over a 100 men, women and children and injuring over one hundred more, and the loss of property is estimated at least $500,000. Many of them being hurled beyond recognition, the only means of identification being the records of the two cotton mills in which many of the victims worked. In path was about three hundred yards wide.

Two clouds met and the tornado descended down and in two minutes killed all these people, two men stories from the five brick story factory of the Gainesville Cotton Mills, demolished near two hundred cottages, raised two black smokes from the ground, turned over loaded freight trains and blew down numerous buildings. Or it went along summit street, which is situated almost exclusively by negroes. Nearly a hundred cottages on this street were leveled to the ground, but fortunately most all the tenants were absent, having left the city in the morning to take a part in a negro picnic.

At New Holland, two miles from the Southern station, where the Toledo mills are located, employing 600 hands, the factory was spared but 100 cottages were entirely demolished, standing near by, however, by its operation. Here many persons were killed, bodies were blown hundreds of yards and many of them when picked up bore no resemblance of humanity.

From New Holland the tornado swept onward to the east to White Sulphur, a town of about one hundred inhabitants, leaving death and destruction in its path and then ascending and is heard of us now that we have learned.

The city presented an ugly darkness and as the flash of lightning could be seen whirling through the air timber, household furniture, cattle, bodies and most everything that was in its path, these were blown about like pieces of paper and their screams could be heard above the terrible roar of the tornado. One lady with her child in her arms was blown half a mile. The next day they were found. The lady's body and the mother's dead. A boy's head was severed from his body.

Soon afterwards many physicians were up from Atlanta, helping to care for the wounded. And on Tuesday excursion trains came into the city, carrying ten thousand people from every direction.

Contributions are being sent in by many persons and cities to assist the 1000 homeless people in their distressed condition, parts of some of their homes being blown for miles. The amount of cash raised up to date is about $7,000. Much more is needed and you are appealed to for aid.

The following is the estimated loss of the persons and firms given below:

Gainesville, Cotton Mills, $50,000.
Parolel Mill, $100,000. Gainesville Cotton Oil Company, $2,000. Gainesville Ironworks, $5,000. Southern railway, $4,000. T. T. Moore, $300. J. R. Clark, $400. Mrs. Heller, $5,000. J. R. Logan, $500. Cooper & Sengels, $2,000. R. D. Langford, $2,000. Piedmont hotel, $300. W. B. Shaw, $3,000. J. T. Waters, $1,000. Gainesville and Dahlonega electric railway company, $4,000. Robert Hargis, $200. Joe Reed, $300. R. D. Griggs, $1,500. J. B. Watson, $5,000. Mrs. E. E. Laid, $200. R. G. Parks, $1,000. J. T. Buckell, $300, and various others, running from $100 to $1,000.

The Southern railway is a heavy loss as the pumping station, depot and the destruction to ending street. Both the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies have poles and wires. Some of the bodies found have not been identified. Others are being searched for. The list of the dead so far is as follows, requiring a real load of sorrow.

Deputy Marshal Downes, accompanied by Collector A. J. Spencer, W. L. Baebling, Juan E. Jones and J. V. Kelley, went out on a raid last week and made a number of seizures. They started out on the 22nd and wound up on the 25. In Choctaw they destroyed a 50 gallon distillery near the home of Wm. Duckworth and another at Jason Red's, but got no "copper" at the latter place. The next seizure was made near the home of Mrs. Jones Woody, in Canada. Here they got a complete distillery and a lot of malt corn and eight or ten fermenters. At Jim Haddons, also in Canada, they found a complete distillery and destroyed about a thousand gallons of beer and much, ten gallons of whiskey and a jug of "buckings." Near Snobies they destroyed a number of fermenters, but the still had been removed. At Henry Fisher's, on Dows, they destroyed five or six hundred gallons of beer but the still had been removed. The town of Malazgier, Armenia, was recently destroyed by an earthquake. Two thousand persons were killed.

T. e taxes on negro dance halls in Atlanta have been raised to $200 and it may be that many will close out. Won't this be a great pity!

First of the week news came from Kansas City stating that more than 20,000 people were without shelter on account of the floods. The loss of life is great.

Iowa, Kansas and Oklahoma were visited by a cloud burst, and terrible rainfalls last week, causing a great flood and thousands of dollars damages.

Millard Lee will not hang yet. His case goes to the Supreme court. The evidence submitted in the case covers 100 pages of type written matter.

A number of our citizens went down to Gainesville to see the destruction caused by the cyclone.

The authorities of Atlanta were notified last week to look out for two fugitive Chinamen from New Orleans who were being sent back to China and who escaped. They had better make up their minds to go back where they can be looked after by the American preachers, for if they get into the hands of the police of Atlanta they may not fare so well.

It was the intention of the manager to have the electric line from Gainesville to the Dunlap Mills completed this week. A picnic will be given on the banks of the Chattahoochee river where all can enjoy themselves and rejoice over the completion of this line which will enable the people of Gainesville to have so much pleasure hereafter during the summer months.

W. A. Crawford, a miner, 59 years of age, who is well known in this section, having worked several months at the Barrettsville mines, has been missing from the Greenfield mine at Auraria since May 2. He went to Atlanta to get money to pay his men off but has not returned. He was last seen in Canton 18 inst., left there very suddenly and has not been heard of since. Fool play is feared, and Mr. Greenfield has employed Atlanta detectives to make a search for the missing man.—Dawsonville Advertiser.

Miss Susan McDonald requests me to say that the card in last week's Standard, stating that Uncle Hammond had left town without paying her, is untrue. And further says that she did not write this card, authorized no one else to make her name in it or to it and knew nothing about it whatever until it appeared in print. She says that Mr. Hammond has always paid her and owed her nothing when he left Dahlonega. The facts are these: Mr. Hammond owed a few little amounts in town but not having time to go round before he departed, left the money with Mr. Reeves to make all settlements, and his friend had been unable to see each before the impression got out among some that Mr. Hammond left without settling his creditors. In connection with this, Almon Benson, having been accused of writing the card and using Miss McDonald's name, requests me to state that he had nothing to do with it.

Mr. J. R. Glenn of Nacoochee Valley, was down here while last week.

We have had good rains since our last issue and growing crops look fine.

If you want to hear one of the best brass bands in Georgia come out to the commencement.

Miss Katie Wilson of Baltimore, is here on a visit to her grand parents, Col. and Mrs. W. P. Price.

The tax receivers clock closes Saturday. If you haven't returned your state tax yet, you had better do so.

It seems that our informant was wrong about Luster Cavenier being arrested in Pickens county last week.

Col. Charters returned from the coast last Friday where he had been fishing and fighting mosquitoes for about a couple of weeks.

Mr. Will Vaughn and Mr. Charles Thomas left last week for Talulah Falls, where they go with their teams to work on the railroad.

Mr. Thomas Ray, who is employed on the railroad in Tennessee, came home last Saturday on a ten days visit. He is accompanied by Mr. Cook who is in search of lands for the road.

Miss Myrtle Thomas, who not long ago went north, was wedded on the 22nd to Mr. G. B. Hoffman at Sherwood, O. Mr. Hoffman is an enterprising farmer of that section who went from the south a few years ago, and the bride is the beautiful daughter of our esteemed friend, Mr. H. H. Thomas of Dahlonega.

Judge Huff has purchased a cow for Mr. John Reister's triplets at the expense of the county, which cannot surely be objected to by anyone, as the little ones needed the milk and the father was not able to buy it for them. He works every day but has three other small children to provide for. The cow cost $27.50.

Lula Carroll, col., was up before Mayor Baker last Friday for fighting Will Trammel, who received a sentence of $15 and cost of 50 days on the streets. The boy was given 30 days or a fine of $2 and cost. Lula has a high temper and has been before the mayor several times, but it doesn't seem to check her in the least. Lula paid her fine.

During the colored meeting last Sunday night at the Baptist church, Albert Coffee visited it while he was full of mountain dew. Albert joined the church some time ago and very likely thinks he has a right to go to this house of worship in any shape he wants to, but since sobering up he realized that there was going to be trouble in the camp and left out, carrying a negro woman named Hunter as a partner.

One day last week Henry Adams jumped up Uncle Caleb Scobitt, residing in the upper edge of this county, and kicked and beat the old man considerably before he could be stopped, without any provocation whatever. Adams was looking him straight in the face without saying a word, and Uncle Caleb did the same, till Henry asked him what he was looking at him for. The reply was, "because you are looking at me," causing Adams to get mad and do what he did and left out. Adams is the man who was tried for larceny in this county some years ago and found to be a fit subject for the asylum, but as he was not considered dangerous there was no chance to get him into the asylum, and after keeping him in jail here for a long time he was released. He would neither work nor speak a word to any one, and talks but little now. A warrant was sworn out for him by Mr. Scobitt but at last accounts Henry had not been arrested, and if he was, nothing could be done with him, except to try to get him into the asylum.

Attention! Attention!!

I hereby call a mass meeting of the citizens of Dahlonega, at the court house tonight, at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of making a contribution to the cyclone sufferers of our sister city.

R. H. BAKER, Mayor.

Mr. Ross Thomas is here on a visit from Alabama.

Col. W. P. Price returned from Baltimore last Friday.

Fresh potatoes at Anderson & Jones at 60 cents per bushel.

Mr. Ricketts, who is near 70 years of age, is down with the mumps.

If you wish to enjoy yourself this summer come to Dahlonega. Accommodations good and rates reasonable.

We meant to say last week that the taxable property in Dahlonega as assessed this year, was $400,000, but a printer at the wrong place made a big difference.

A student confessed to stealing some money this week, but his name is withheld from us and no case made against him. Student and citizen should be served alike when it comes to stealing.

We understand that one Mr. Davis, who resided in Gainesville and came to Dahlonega some time ago and bargained for a lot of old iron for shipment, has absconded, leaving several debts unpaid. Among them here is Mr. Steven Rice, Will Vaughn and probably others.

The annual meeting of the Georgia Educational Association convenes at Cumberland Island, June 23-25, 1903, and promises to be largely attended and very interesting as usual. Prof. J. N. Rogers of Dahlonega, will be present on the 25th and his subject is "The Educational Value of Training."

The marshal has gone round and notified all persons not to sweep out any paper or trash on the square. There is an ordinance against this and the one who does so any more will have to pay a fine. Put your trash in a box and have it ready for the scavenger wagon. By doing this you will save money.

An interesting article concerning the college and the approaching commencement will be found on our first page from the pen of Mr. J. F. Brouch, one of the students of this institution. Mr. Brouch realizing the advantages this college is giving never fails to praise it and its able corps of teachers whenever an opportunity is offered.

Two professional beggars struck our town last week and after separating made a pretty thorough canvass of the place, collecting several dollars. One carried a stiff leg and a crippled hand, and the other had but one leg. Nevertheless we know of men living within a few miles of Dahlonega in just as bad a condition as either, who work and earn a living by their own hands and do not pretend to beg. Yes, there is old Uncle Charlie right here in town, who carries the most of his own living by work and never asks for a cent to be given to him.

Some days ago Mr. John H. Moore was called away on business from his store to the clerk's office in the court house, where he remained for a half an hour or more, forgetting that his store was left alone. So he rushed back and found Uncle Peter Goodluck, an old honest negro, standing at the door waiting. He said he went in and seeing no one there was afraid to go away for fear some one might go in and steal something and he would be accused of it. This good old negro has no education but this act is a better example than Booker Washington has been able to give, and if it was followed by all the negroes row and lynchings would soon be a thing of the past.

Rev. W. T. Dowdy will preach at Concord church next Sunday at 8 o'clock.

Children's Day services at the Methodist church here were very interesting.

Mrs. Martha Cain will please accept our thanks for a dish of large nice strawberries.

Do you want a good position in this section? If so see notice elsewhere of salesmen wanted.

At H. D. Gurley's you will find a fine and fresh lot of fancy candies, cakes, etc., just received.

Chicken's large enough to make the gravy taste good, sell from the wagons here at 12 cents.

If you have anything to sell advertise it in the Standard, where it will be seen by hundreds of people.

Prof. Garner, who has been lecturing during the week, will probably stay for the commencement.

Messrs. Anderson & Jones have put away their old oil lamps and are now selling clocks at night by electricity.

M. G. Head has just received a new line of men's and ladies' shoes. Has a few pair of misses' slippers for sale cheap.

If you are not already taking the Standard drop in next week and have your name added to its subscription list.

Mr. Geo. Jenkins has gone down to Gainesville to open out the restaurant for Mr. John Hatfield who will join him week after next.

On Saturday night next Miss Tillson will give four violin solos accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Stewart during the elocution prize contest.

The city council met Monday night and after accepting the tax book as assessed by the committee and receiving the marshal's report adjourned till tomorrow night.

Monday after the report reached here of the tornado in Gainesville the telephone office was crowded with people waiting to hear about their friends and relatives there.

We regret to learn that Mrs. James Bryan, a sister-in-law of ex-tax collector John Sargent, was killed by the cyclone in Gainesville Monday also a daughter of Peter Woody, both of this county.

It is stated that the Bell Telephone Co. will soon rebuild the telephone line from Gainesville to Dahlonega, which they recently bought from the Dahlonega Telephone Co. and will shortly begin the erection of a line from Gainesville to Dawsonville.

Tuesday as "Long" John Anderson was crossing the Yahola creek while it was rising, he looked back and saw his bucket of eggs float out of the baggy and start downstream. John jumped out into water up to his waist and grabbed the bucket just as it went to sink and brought his eggs on to town.

Mr. T. P. Lombard of Corona, California, who resided here for some time several years ago, is registered at Hall's Villa this week, in company with Mr. A. M. Kitchen of Chicago. Mr. Lombard owns the Battle Branch mine in this county. Both gentlemen expect to return to Dahlonega with their families to spend the summer.

Col. W. P. Price sent the tornado stricken city of Gainesville a contribution of ten dollars last Tuesday, being the only person of Dahlonega that has given anything yet. Let a meeting of the citizens be called and a committee appointed for the purpose of raising what we can here for our sister city. Let us all give something to the needy who are now in distress. Our town may be swept by a cyclone, cloud burst or fire one of these days and cause us to have to ask for aid. Remember that this is more important than banquets and monuments which some of us have contributed to in the past. Later—A meeting has been called for tonight.

A few straw hats at and below cost at H. D. Gurley's.

Mr. E. S. Copeland is now at work in the office of the Gainesville and Dahlonega Railroad Co. at Gainesville.

Judge Huff will leave for Greenville, S. C. next Monday to examine some gold property for a gentleman interested.

Down at the Barlow they are finding plenty of snakes as well as gold. In two days last week six pilots and two cowboys were killed. The longest of these being six feet.

Last Tuesday the board of trustees of the public school reselected all the present teachers and asked the council for the same amount of money that was given the school last year.

The following members of the legislative committee appointed to visit the N. G. A. College next week, to be here Sunday, are: Bell of Emanuel, Chairman; Harlan of Jackson; McCary of Hart; Steed of Carroll; Kendrick of Taliaferro; Shackelford of Clark.

A new line of men's, women's and children's shoes just in at Anderson & Jones' Bargain Store. Infants No. 8 to 6, children from 5 to 8, 9 to 12, 12 to 15. Something real nice. All sizes. Men's fine shoes from $1.25 to $1.50. Ladies' fine shoes from $1.25 to $2.50. Give them a call if you want a bargain.

The Public School.

The Dahlonega public school closed one of its most interesting sessions last Saturday, and its teachers will now take a little recreation and rest for the next 90 days. They all certainly need it, for each and every one has given such attention as is needed to make it one of the best schools in Georgia. Nothing has been left undone by either teacher that would advance its interests. Every little child has received proper attention and the progress of all who have taken the advantages of the opportunity offered by this institution have greatly advanced in their studies, which causes the patrons and every citizen of Dahlonega to feel proud of the school, and especially the teachers who have worked so hard to bring it up to its present standard.

On Saturday the closing exercises held in the court house were both interesting and entertaining. The room was crowded to overflow and many were unable to procure even standing room.

The prizes were awarded as follows:

First Grade—Nannie Docket, first honor (medal). Ruby McKee, second honor. Claude McGuire, Jimmie Roberts and Chas. Roberts, general excellence. Della Edmonson, writing. Earnest Boyd, general excellence.

Second Grade Sec. A—Homer Tolbert (medal). For greatest improvement in writing the year, Belle Rogers.

Third Grade Sec. A—Mary Stanton (medal). Books awarded to Ruth Russell, Tom Huff, Birdie Anderson, Garner Huff.

Fourth Grade—Alice Stewart (medal). Books awarded to Mattie Harrison, Pearl Rice, Montine Hutchins, Carrie Huff, Cecil Jackson and Mattie Craig. For commendable effort and good attendance a book was awarded to Rufe Ed Baker.

Fifth Grade—First honor, Francis Stanton (medal). Second honor, Ora McKee, a book. Books awarded to Willie Wallace and Johnnie Black.

Sixth Grade—First honor shared by Pearl Anderson and Isabelle Charters. Difference of only one-fifth per cent in examination averages for both terms, and only two-fifths in general average for year. Medal to Pearl Anderson and book to Isabelle Charters. Books awarded to Fannie McGuire and Maud Jackson.

The records show that Pearl Rice has not missed any time in the entire four years.

Mining Notes.

The Consolidated Co. had its annual meeting in the north on the day flood, and we were glad to learn that a number of its members are expecting to start to Dahlonega on the 10th inst. no doubt having an eye to resuming work.

Billie Riley not long ago discovered a vein down in the Hatfield property which gave satisfactory results. Billie is an old miner and generally meets with success, for the simple reason that he knows what he is doing.

Messrs. Fato, Rev. and Tom Johnson are engaged at work down on Cain creek, near the Barlow. The bed of this stream has always paid well and we may look for good results if the season is not so rainy that high water will run them out.

The Ingersoll & Crismon dredge boat didn't begin operation first of the month in the Chatahoochee river as was expected, on account of some changes in its construction being desired, but it will be ready for active work in a few days. No dredge has ever been operated in the land where they proposed to work it, and a large amount of gold is expected to be discovered.

Mr. J. M. Ashley who is running a dredge boat down in Dawson county, spent a day or two in Dahlonega last week. His machinery is the most modern and operates like clock work. Mr. Ashley is also working a mica mine in Lumpkin county, which was purchased from the Corns in the western part of the county. It has reached a depth of 80 feet, from which large blocks have been taken containing pieces of mica clear of seams measuring 12x14 inches.

Out at Cavenier's Creek things are moving along like clock work. It was the intention of the manager to complete all rock work on the canal last Saturday at noon and give the hands a picnic or barbecue, but the rain came and interfered with the program. The tunnel work is mostly rock now and it cannot be told when it will be completed. Work will be commenced on the reservoir soon. Their little live stamp mill keeps running, and another larger one will be built soon.

Since the recent rains have set in Crown Mountain has been able to run on full time and the results are very gratifying to the managers. Both plates and recent surveys show that the ore is greatly improving as they advance into the mountain, and all that is needed to make this mine pay a dividend is for them to keep the mill running, which can be done when the George dam is completed at all seasons of the year. Teamsters are busy every day getting the logs in for this purpose now.

We are glad to state that the Singleton, belonging to the Standard and Co., continues to improve both in quality and quantity of ore and is once more being profitably worked under the supervision of Mr. W. G. Campbell. He has only been running from ten to fifteen stamps but will soon be able to keep the full twenty stamps moving. The supply of water is short on account of the canal not having been cleaned out for years, rendering him unable to run the mine and mill at the same time.

Another big clean up of about eight hundred pennyweights, including a hundred that was taken out the other day, has been mined down at the Calhoun mines. We had the pleasure last Sunday of seeing that which was taken from the sluice way while it was in the black sand. It contained no quick and showed up beautifully in its natural color, more especially the quantity, being the nicest thing we have examined in a long time—from fine particles on up to large nuggets. The expenses are very light, taking only about six hands to operate it. Mr. Wharton Anderson has been operating this mine for years and it is useless for us to remark that it pays, for everyone acquainted with the Calhoun knows that.

Washington, May 20.—Director Walcott of the geological survey and his able corps of assistants have been gathering some interesting data of economic interest and utility to the people of various sections of the country. One of their latest bulletins consists of contributions to economic geology.

The results of investigations made chiefly in 1902, are now condensed and published to meet the wants of the man of affairs.

Below are given notes on those contributions affecting Lumpkin county:

"Gold and Pyrite Deposits of the Dahlonega District," by Mr. Edwin Eckel, discusses briefly the general geology of the Dahlonega district (Lumpkin county), the gold-belt and ore deposits, the relations of the gold-ore deposits and their size. The upper weathered zone of gold deposits can be worked at every low cost by hydraulic mining; the deeper gold ore requires expensive processes, and has not been found entirely satisfactory.

The most interesting development in the Dahlonega district during 1902 was the opening of a large high-grade body of pyrite near the town, the property of the Chattanooga Pyrites Company, about six miles northeast of Dahlonega, on the south side of the Chatahoochee river. This deposit outcrops about 2,000 feet along the surface of the ground. It appears to be not less than twenty feet in thickness and has been followed down on the dip for a distance of about 150 feet. The average of the analysis shows about 44 per cent. sulphur, 44 per cent. iron, and 3 per cent. copper.

As to Happiness.

Mrs. Edna Cain of the Quitman Free Press, admittedly one of Georgia's most brilliant and talented authors, has this to say of "Happiness."

"We go on long journeys to see it and come back to find that we have left it at home; we plan for days to have it as a guest, and prepare a beautiful feast for it, and, lo! it sits at the board instead. Later it comes in the most unexpected guise and turns some common day into a festival. It changes constantly; it never stays. It is the butterfly which flutters from one bud to another, the rose which blooms and fades; the gorgeous sunset, which in a moment turns to ashes. It lasts only so long as a breath of perfume; the sudden glance of languid eyes before the lids close down, or the last tone of a song. People who seek it most persistently are seldom rewarded by it. The only condition imposed upon happy people is that they enjoy it and ask no questions. And I often think that the only way to be happy is to learn to do without happiness."

Profits by Prejudice.

An exchange tells of a shrewd colored man who is making money out of the race prejudice as he has found it to exist in Brooklyn and Jersey City. His plan of operation is this: He selects a house in some choice residence section, buys it and moves in with his family. Immediately there is a howl on the part of his neighbors who do not want negroes in the neighborhood. The negro assures the objectors that he likes the house and neighborhood and that he has no special desire to leave, but if they are willing to pay him his price, for the property he will sell. Then he names a price that will net him about 40 to 50 per cent. profit on the investment, and he usually gets it. He is credited with having made thousands of dollars in this manner in the past two or three years, and is believed now to be regularly into this "real estate" business.

Harsh measure are not always lost—as the woman who marries a man to reform him is apt to discover to her sorrow.

An editor, in the spirit of a father, gives some good advice to his local representative in the legislature which we reproduce for the benefit of such members as may need it and be able to benefit by its kindly spirit:

"Keep tolerably sober.

"Always cut the cards—it's all you'll get out of the game.

"Never make a speech if you can avoid it. You are liable to be asked some embarrassing questions.

"Vote for no appropriation that carries a dollar out of the state; vote for anything that will bring one in.

"Pass stronger laws against fence-cutters and cow-stalers—if you can get a majority not subject to indictment.

"Read the Tar Commandments.

"Be kind to the lobbyist and the vote-buyer—leave them enough change to go home on.

"Don't cultivate a taste for too many fine dishes—remember the men in the flatwoods.

"There will be those who will tell you that you are handsome and have intelligent features. Give them the lie in words as well as—

"Stand by your section and friends when they are in the wrong—they don't need you when right.

"If you die at your post it's all right—will try to send a healthier one next time."—Dawson News.

A Two Edge Sword.

Advertising may be likened to a two edged sword in that it cuts both ways. Its effect upon the public is the only one to which much attention has been called, but its influence upon the merchant himself is hardly less important. Altho' for new goods, low prices, bargains, the grasp of opportunities, may all be accurately gauged by the advertising a merchant does. The man who does not advertise is slow, indifferent, not up to the times and not eager to give his customers the newest and best of everything. Advertising educates not only the buying public, but the merchant as well.—Retailer and Advertiser.

Where did all the wild pigeons go to? is a question harder to answer than what becomes of the pins. Less than forty years ago they abounded all through the middle West and other sections in countless flocks that often darkened the air for miles around. Now a wild pigeon is as much a curiosity as a dodo.—Ex.

A Westerner who advertised for cook and a music teacher got nine replies to the former and 339 to the latter, thus showing anybody can teach music, but it requires ability of a high order to cook victuals.—Augusta Herald.

Last Friday afternoon Mr. J. E. Cole, who resides two miles southwest of town, while passing through an unfrequented place on his farm enjoying the balmy May breezes, glancing downward into a little ditch, noticed a small shining surface. Picking it up he was surprised to see that he had a valuable silver ring with gold mounting. The morning was found to bear this inscription: "Lieut. P. L. Pense, Company F, 4th Michigan Cavalry." To the left of the mounting on the ring was the name "Pense," and on the right the name "Nellie."

On this spot during the 60's a company of federal soldiers killed a large number of sheep belonging to Mr. Cole's father, and camped over night. The ring may have been lost by the officer at that time, or possibly he was killed, his body returning to dust, leaving this mark of rank. The name "Nellie" lends some romance to this discovery, she possibly being the idol of his heart who has never heard of him since, or it may have been his mother's ring, placed on his finger in the sad hour of "farewell."—Dallas New Era.

Shattered Nerves and Weak Heart.

Too Nervous to Sleep or Rest.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nerve Cure Me.

A shattered nervous system, nearly always leads to some affection of the heart, especially where the patient's heart is weak from hereditary or other causes. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is not only a great heart regulator, but it is a blood tonic which speedsily corrects the blood and improves the circulation. It will build you up just as it did Mr. Crawford whose letter follows, and greatly improve your general health.

"I have been so greatly benefited by Dr. Miles' Nerve and Heart Cure that I freely recommend them as the best remedies for the diseases they are recommended to cure. When I began taking these medicines I weighed scarcely 120 pounds, my nerves were badly shattered and my heart troubled me a great deal. I had pain in my left arm and shoulder, had difficulty in sleeping, my left side, had frequent smothering spells and my heart would flutter and palpitate. I could eat scarcely any kind of food without suffering great distress, and was so restless and nervous that I slept little night or day. Now I am never bothered with my heart, my nerves are steady as a rock, I sleep well, eat well and weigh 175 pounds. I am happy now and am trying to make back the money I spent for doctors who did me no good while I was in Dr. J. C. Crawford's hands, Texas.

A Merchant Cured After Having Given Up Hope.

Gentlemen:—I was afflicted with Kidney and Bladder trouble for six years and had tried numerous preparations without getting any relief and had given up hope of ever being cured when FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE was recommended to me. After using one bottle I could feel the effect of it, and after taking six fifty-cent bottles, I was cured of Kidney and Bladder trouble and have not felt so well for the past twenty years and I owe it to FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE. The N. G. A. College Next Year.

It has been known for some time past that at least two vacancies would have to be filled in the college faculty. President Stewart having accepted employment in the State University, and Prof. Ansted, of the Business Department, resigned to accept a situation in Toronto, Canada. Numerous applications have been received by the Board of Trustees to fill these two vacancies. For President of the faculty, applications have come from nearly every state in the union. The Prudential committee has been engaged for weeks in reading and considering these various applications. The applicants, of the greater part of them, were distinguished educators, and in their several spheres were competent college professors. What the committee desired was to find, if possible, a man who possessed not only the qualifications of a teacher, but one who could meet the special demands of the college, and make the most out of its environment.

The state is requiring more of the college than it has ever before. The U. S. Government is going to rehabilitate its Military department, and that officer selected to have the oversight of the entire work ought to be a man of more than ordinary capacity, experience and executive ability.

These qualifications the committee believe that they have found in Prof. E. S. Avis, Ph. D., now located at Newark, Delaware, and have recommended him to the Board of Trustees for the position of President. This recommendation the local Board has ratified, and the Board of Trustees of the University of Georgia will be requested to select Dr. Avis. The last named Board elects the President of the S. G. A. College.

Dr. Avis is a native of West Virginia, a graduate of West Point, and on whom the University of West Virginia, after being one of its professors for several years, conferred the Degree of Ph. D. He was retired from the U. S. Army on account of stiffness in his left knee, which incapacitated him from performing long marches on foot. Mrs. Avis is a Georgia lady, and related to many of our best families. Prof. Avis is expected to aid in bringing up the Mathematical and Engineering department where it will be unexcelled by any college in the South. Being a typical Southern mountaineer, he will soon be at home with the people of North Georgia, and the entire state.

The Business department of the college has been filled by the election of Prof. Chas. H. Miller, of Plattsburg, N. Y., who is a graduate of high honors of Cornell University, and in addition to his labors in the Business department will teach French and German. All the remaining members of the faculty were re-elected. The prospects of the college were very bright.

Strange Freaks of the Gainesville Cyclone.

[FROM EAGLE.]

One peculiar thing was noticed at New Holland. A chicken lay dead almost without a bruise, every feather stripped from its body within 20 steps lay another, with hardly a feather ruffled.

At Col. Sloan's, whose house was blown entirely away, not a shingle or nail remaining in place, in one corner at the rear stood a wash tub with just enough flooring underneath to hold it up.

Several men at the Southern depot sought shelter in freight cars. The cars were lifted from the ground and overturned, but the inmates escaped unhurt.

A negro woman received a lick on the head by a flying timber and both eyes knocked entirely out.

One boy jumped from the fifth floor of the mill to escape death. He was caught by the wind, blown slowly to the ground and ran away without a scratch.

Two small negro children were blown fifty yards and very slightly hurt.

A 10-year-old boy was seen high in the air astride a plank. He was carried a hundred yards and came down with an ankle sprained.

Will Backsler was in the car shed of the Electric Company, was blown away 40 yards, but escaped death. He was painfully injured.

Straws and shingles were found hurled in the bodies of trees. A chicken was found driven half way through a tree.

Little Ollie Gady, a twelve-year-old girl, employed in the spinning room on the top floor of the mill, jumped as soon as the front wall fell. She was carried several hundred feet by the force of the wind and deposited gently on the tracks of the Southern road, uninjured in the least.

A little boy at the Gainesville Cotton Mill was blown out of a fifth-story window and blown back into the mill through an open window of the third story, unhurt.

The school house was blown to pieces, but the floor was left intact and every desk was left standing except one which was toppled over.

One among the saddest deaths was that of Mrs. J. M. Camp and little son. She ran from her home across the street to a neighbor's. Both she and the boy were instantly killed, while her own home remained untouched. The double funeral occurred at Alta Vista cemetery Tuesday afternoon.

Chestnut Street Baptist church and Myrtle Street Methodist church and four negro churches and the colored school house were wrecked.

The pastors of Gainesville issued an appeal in behalf of the cyclone sufferers last week, stating that four churches, one white and three colored, were totally destroyed, many homes and one school house.

Prof. A. W. Cato, who went from this county and has been teaching school in Texas for two years, is back on a visit. Texas agrees with him both physically and financially.

Dr. Brown of Murray county, who has a son attending school here, took in the commencement. Mrs. Geo. J. J. of Hawkinsville. It is their first visit but we hope it will be their last.

Among our distinguished visitors here this week was Judge Oscar of Marietta, Ga. The Judge has been here but once, we believe, since he was solicitor general, and his numerous friends were glad to meet him once more.

Last Saturday was the first sunny day we had had here for a week. A full week's cloudy, rainy weather up to that time caused it to be enjoyed very much. The water-courses have been high but we have heard of no damage.

Mr. O. Deane LaFaire, who once went to England here and lived in White county, attended the commencement. He spent three years in Arizona but likes this country best, and is now engaged in putting up a saw mill and cotton gin over on Wabash with Mr. M. H. Gilstrap. Success to both.

Last Saturday afternoon Commencement Day Smith and Memory Smith had a little altercation, resulting in the latter being knocked about down by the former. Some time ago Sam sold Mr. Smith a truck, which he said was good, but when it was cut into pieces it was different, causing the trouble when Sam called Mr. Smith a liar.

The postmaster at Landrum, Ga., under date of the 6th, writes us as follows: "Your patrons here are complaining at not receiving their papers on Saturday. Have for the last five or six weeks been reaching here on Tuesday of the next week. Delay somewhere."

Some postmaster on the line is neglecting his duty and if it occurs again we will report the matter to the department.

Mr. J. N. Cook, who came over from Tennessee with Mr. Tom Ray recently, in search of hands to work on the railroad, was arrested down at Jefferson last Sunday charged with violating a law which prohibits this, but having no transfers was released. People will say the negroes ought to be sent out of the country, yet when a man comes after them he is arrested.

Rev. Marion Bille of this county, preached at Mr. Aley last Sunday in Union. His collection over there must have been slim for we learn that on his way back he took the picture of a man and his wife with his kodak at Mr. Waldens, for which he charged fifty cents. This man might have been "called to preach" but the Lord didn't mean for him to take any pictures on Sunday.

Mrs. Dank Hollifield of this county, was on a visit to a relative in Gainesville during the cyclone recently, and was in it but fortunately escaped uninjured. She was at Mr. John Loggins. They saw it approaching and all ran into the house and the family got together in one corner. Bishop Anderson, J. L. Parks and Walter Anderson, of Dawson county, were up before Com. Baker last Thursday charged with blacklisting. Bishop had two cases against him and was bound over in one. Parks was acquitted and Walter Anderson was required to make a bond for his appearance before a higher court in Atlanta.

Last Friday the city council met and appropriated $50.00, the amount requested for the Gainesville sufferers, and also agreed to levy the amount asked for the public school by its board. As the assessing committee had performed its tax work without being quashed, as some objections were raised to it, the committee took the oath as required by law and will proceed to do its work over. Of course there will be no change in the assessment. The books will be gone over and amounts checked up so as to make its work legal and to keep down any litigations that might arise otherwise.

Among our citizens who went down to Gainesville last week to see the destruction of the cyclone was Mr. T. S. Littlefield, who used to reside here. He went to the place where he had lived and the house, store and everything was swept away. At the time of the tornado it was occupied by Mr. J. H. Wilsenart, whose store and every thing he possessed was gone except a calf and it had its leg broken. It was certainly a pitiful looking sight to see Mr. Wilsenart out doctored his crippled calf and his wife and children sitting about on pieces of timber at their once happy home, shedding tears.

Since last week we found out the name of the student who stole some money, referred to in last issue, and it is justice to the other students here that we publish his name, for four some innocent person might be suspected by those away. His name is J. U. Reeves of Alabama. For some time called W. T. Townsend, had been missing money out of his trunk, at the party the number of some bills were taken down, and the bank and merchants notified to be on the watch. It was not long until one of them were missing and spent at Merchant Satterfield's, by Reeves, who had a key that fit Townsend's trunk, and lost it more than once.

Mr. R. W. Walker left for Ellijay this morning.

Mr. B. P. Gaillard, Jr., came up this week from Gainesville and spent several days with his parents here.

Prof. J. S. Stewart will leave for the State University commencement at Athens Saturday. His family will likely remain in Dahlonega for a month.

Monday night after the entertainment was over at the college, an hour or so was spent dancing at the Hatfield House by many of those who participate in such pleasures.

Prof. Calvin informed us yesterday that the next day after the cyclone in Gainesville he found a ten dollar bill sticking to the splinters of a broken tree, which he turned over to the committee.

After the commencement closed last night some of the young ladies and young men went serenading. Their songs were beautiful, but the ending of their school days and early separation caused sadness.

After a long illness of consumption Mrs. J. H. Hutchins breathed her last here yesterday at 4:30, who leaves a host of friends and many relatives to mourn her loss. Her remains were carried to Jefferson, Ga., for interment.

The Legislative Committee, appointed to visit the college, has come and gone. It was headed by Hon. Geo. Bell, former editor of the Wiregrass Blade and author of the kissing bill, which failed to become a law, to the delight of all young people and many older ones. The town was turned over to them and they had things their own way, and if they didn't enjoy themselves it is their own fault. They were all pleased with the institution.

On Monday night the annual entertainment by the Alumni took place at the college dormitory. It was a most delightful occasion, attended by quite a number of distinguished visitors, all of whom enjoyed themselves very much, together with the rest of our citizens who were on hand. The most pleasant words spoken on this occasion will long be remembered by each and every one present.

Tom Dockery and Joe Holloway of Union county, came to Dahlonega last Friday night with a supply of mountain dew for commencement. Saturday night assistant George Walker made a raid after them down on the Wimpy mill road and after a hard race caught Holloway, but nothing was found except some empty jugs. The boy lost his hat in the race and both shirt sleeves were hanging on the bushes. Monday he had a trial before Mayor Baker but none of the witnesses seemed to know anything about him, he was released and told to go, and worried not to bring any more or to Dahlonega.

They all like the N. G. A. Mr. Will Hartman in writing from Thomaston, says: "Enclosed find $1.00 to renew my subscription to the N. G. A., beginning with last issue. We do not want to miss a single copy." Mr. Geo. T. Daniel informs us to change his address for a month to Soque, Ga., where he is visiting. That he "can't" do without the N. G. A. Mr. W. G. Conley, N. C., in renewing also says: "I can't do without your paper." Mr. G. S. Prater of the N. G. A. writes: "I am anxious to see your paper. It gives all the news. Best country paper I ever saw." All this is very encouraging to a country editor, and will strive to keep the N. G. A. up to its present standard. And still they come. Mr. C. M. Head, Tuba, Ga., sends a dollar and has this to say: "A dollar enclosed for another year's subscription. Can't get along without the N. G. A. It is the first paper read that comes to this office."

The Trophies of Another Conclusion.

The commencement opened Saturday night with the "91" declamation and after a lively contest Mrs. Mary Wood of Gainesville, Ga., won second Sunday morning Dr. Morris delivered a masterly sermon. He theme was a strong proof and argument for Christianity, and it was eloquently handled. On Sunday night he again presented an eloquent sermon.

On Monday morning the first men speakers were well trained and the contest was close, but Mr. Wier Gaillard was first prize and Mr. Wiers second. The music on these occasions was excellent and added much to the course.

On Monday afternoon the skits, last was a very thrilling scene, as the band played "Dixie" when the changing lines resulted in a wondrous story.

On Monday night Mr. Crusselle declaimed address. After this, the officers and guests enjoyed a banquet in the dining hall at the girls' dormitory. All of which was a grand success.

One of the finestst annuals mentioned that has ever been held by the association was participated in at N. G. A. Tuesday, at which meeting new features of the organization was set on foot. That of raising and maintaining a scholarship fund of $1000 a year for educating and developing some needy, worthy, intelligent girl or boy to obtain a full college course in this institution.

Thirty-two dollars was subscribed, in the room on the spot. Later a number of the entire organization will be made for this purpose.

Mr. W. T. Townsend won first prize and Mr. Byron second in the declamation declamation contest.

Mr. Arredondo got the prize for the best shot in target practice. Miss Mrs. Saffie Gaillard the Latin medal, and Mr. J. U. Stewart the Mathematics medal.

The champion debate was a very lively but interesting occasion. Both sides worked with vim and energy for the decision, but it was won by the Phi Psi Society. The general sentiment was that the debate was one of the most interesting features of the commencement.

Wednesday morning the Juniors displayed marked ability in the orations which they had prepared for the occasion. Mr. J. R. Gortatowsky won the medal. Also the Gortatowsky medal. After the Junior orations Maj. J. C. Tilton gave a lecture on the Chinese and their customs and gave new life to the exercises by adding this unexpected feature. Maj. Tilton spoke of the fine artistic nature of the Chinese arts compared with other people and showed their actual handiwork.

On Wednesday night, which marked the conclusion, was the Senior orations, after which the President delivered the diplomas to the graduating class.

After the graduating exercises the season was closed with a parting hymn from the band and a band salute of farewell passed through the audience, thus another year's work was complete.

Mining Notes.

There is nothing new to report in mining this week that we know of. Since the torrents of rain of last season, all the mines have resumed operation. It is a rare thing for us to have as much rain fall as occurred here last week at this season of the year, but fortunately no damage was done.

However, Mr. Tregent, who has the Barlow lease, came up last Saturday with a large bottle of rent gold to turn over to the Consolidated. He is not only engaged himself but has leased a lot of it to several good practical miners, all of whom are doing well, causing the old Barlow to come to the front again.

A letter received from a member of the Consolidated Co., residing at Columbus, O., says: "I expect to visit Dahlonega about the 10th if nothing prevents, and Mr. Ainslie and Mr. Brynman also expect to go down at that time. We had a very successful meeting at Toledo and all of the old officers were re-elected. We expect to install one or two new ones down there in the near future. Our prospects at Dahlonega mines were never better than they are now. Some two or three months ago we sent 1000 lbs of ore out of the Henning mine to the Tuleride Reduction Co. at Colorado Springs and they report an average saving out of the 1000 pounds at the rate of $40 per ton. We may also install one of their plants down on our mines in a short time."

The Preacher at the Table.

Recently Arthur Singleton, who, being aware that the preacher of his color would visit this place in a few days, he put up two guineas to fatten so he could prepare a table for him in good style.

The time arrived and the ex-pounder of the gospel came, who dropped into Arthur's about meal time, where a table laden with many good things awaited him. When the preacher placed his feet under the table he was full of joy, the many full dishes causing his eyes to glisten like new silver dollars.

"You got a fortune when you married sister Singleton," remarked the good man, at the same time asking for the big dish containing the guinea.

"The Lord will bless those that feed his disciples," said the hungry man. Again asking for the big dish.

"Sister Singleton is such a good cook. Another cup of coffee please."

"You have such a beautiful place here. Pass me the cake."

"May I tell you both, about a half cup of coffee please." It went on this way for about a half an hour. Every time the preacher said anything about the Lord or Author and his wife he would either pass him a cup or ask for the big dish or a slice of cake. And when that man started to pull his feet from under the table and get up he made two efforts and several grunts, looking like a clown with a suit on, packed with cotton.

If Booker Washington doesn't favor social equality why does he force himself into hotels of whites where white chambermaids have to make up his bed? Enquires the Marietta Journal.

Auraria Items.

Our school, which will be taught by Mr. J. F. Branch, will commence Monday, June 15th.

Capt. and Mrs. H. D. Jaquith left Sunday morning for a few days visit in Gainesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Jefferson of Atlanta, are spending a few weeks with Mrs. Jefferson's sister, Mrs. J. H. Summerow of Auraria.

Communion services were held at the Baptist church Sunday.

Rev. T. L. Robinson, the pastor, preached a very interesting sermon to a large congregation.

The body of Lila Woody, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Woody, was interred at the Auraria M. E. cemetery last Friday. She was one of the many little children killed by the fearful tornado at Gainesville.

Miss Bessie Miller left Sunday morning for Russell, where she goes to attend the Strickling-Mata wedding, which occurred there yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hutcherson of Freda, spent Saturday night with relatives at Auraria.

Git my old kuzneck, Mary and uniform of gray,

For I'm going out 'paradin' with the boys of '61.
Never mind them bloodstains Mary, never mind that ragged hole,
It was left there by a bullet that was seeking for my soul.

Just brush off them cobwebs, Mary, git the bonnie flag of blue,
For I am goin' out 'paradin' with the boys of '63.
These old clothes don't fit me Mary, like them did when I was young,
Don't you remember how neatly to my manly form they clung?
Never mind that sleeve that's empty, let it dangle loose and free,
For I am goin' out 'paradin' with the boys of '63.

Pull my sword belt tighter, Mary, fix that strap beneath my chin;
I've grown old and threadbare, Mary, like my uniform an' thin,
But I reckon I'll pass muster, as I did in days of yore,
For I am goin' out 'paradin' with the boys of '64.

Now I'm ready, Mary, kiss me; kiss your old sweetheart good bye,
Brush aside the wayward tear-drops, Lord I didn't think you'd cry.

I ain't goin' forth to battle cheer up, Mary, sakes alive,
I'm just goin' out 'paradin' with the boys of '65.

SODDY, TENN., June 2, 1903.

EDITOR NUGGET:

Saturday, May 30, was Decoration Day here. So it rained them out and they were determined to have it. But on Sunday 31—all the secret orders—with their lodge equipments, marched on to the cemetery, led by the Soddy band and four guns in the crowd, which sounded very much like Sabbath breaking. Though the people of Soddy do not regard Sunday as much as the good minister you speak of in your columns.

Speaking in regard to the secret organizations, the Odd Fellows seem to have the lead here. They are about 150 strong. There were about 80 put through the ceremony one night and it was an all-night job. The union is about 250 strong. All the other orders are in good shape.

Now I would like to give a word of warning to the distressed lover that I saw his love letter in the Nugget some time back. If the young lady is the daughter of a miner he ought not to have the word, "love," inlaid with gold on his heart. She might take a notion to work it out, or his father-in-law might get an option on him and sell him out.

So no more this time, by saying to the editor to be aware of shooting irons.

Bull Suicide.

The company that is building the dam at Bull Suicide on the Chattahoochee below Roswell, has already expended more than $200,000, and will expend $1,000,000 more. The dam will be completed by January 1, 1905, if not before. More than one hundred thousand barrels of cement will be required to do the work. The dam will be forty feet high, and when completed will back water to Roswell bridge, a distance of three miles. About three hundred men are now at work on the dam.

Marriage For Material Betterment Only.

Gilson's Drawing in the current issue of Collier's Weekly is a good sermon. It is one of the saddest incidents that ever comes before the public eye. The happy home is the crowning feature of America customs and institutions. If the United States is to withstand the corruption and avarice and debauchery that has cut down all the other great nations of the world's history, itself must be by the virtue of the purity of the home. The wife is not the uncrowned queen of America. She is crowned, or should be, with a halo of love. To her husband she should be a sympathizer in time of mental depression, a companion for his happier hours and thoroughly congenial with every phase being that enters into life.

To marry merely for material betterment is a bargain of the basest sort. It lowers both man and woman not only in the eyes of the world, but they cannot have any self respect. Where no congeniality between the two exists, the children cannot grow up in an atmosphere of high moral culture. To our minds this might almost be classed as the unpardonable sin, for it is the acting throughout life of a part, living a life of falsehood. It not only condemns the principals to misery and self contempt but it gives to the children in their early years a view of life that is wholly at variance with that which they should have.

Marriage for the sake of material betterment takes away from the man and the woman the higher virtues with which they are endowed for making the vows at the altar they publicly announce that they cast aside the sacredness of truth and love.

Advice is worse than useless when it is not wanted, for then it is more than apt to lead one to desperation. Many take a false step that they know to be wrong just to convince a friend "that they are right."

The jingling of the guinea can never help the hurt that love will feel. It seems to us that one of the few things in life which is calculated to excite the most abject terror in even a brave man or woman, is to marry one whom he or she does not love. It is almost universally true that in every life before going down to the grave, there comes a great love. What if this love should come into your life after you are outwardly pledged to another? It is one of the most serious of all life's problems and the lack of consideration with which the present American generation is meeting it, is one of the most hopeless signs of the times.

Knew the Pulse.

Old Doc Burns had been a valued citizen of a little Western town, but had lost his prestige through an extreme weakness for whiskey, says the Detroit Free Press.

He was a first-class doctor when he was sober, but he was so seldom in that condition that he couldn't be trusted with the chills. One day a man was taken suddenly ill, and as the only other doctor in town had gone to the country to see a patient, a hurry call was sent for Doc Burns.

He arrived, drunk as usual, but assuming a professional air, he began an examination. In trying to find the patient's pulse he put his hand on the man's head, which was lying on the edge of the bed. The moment his finger touched the pulse he exclaimed: "Why, the man's drunk!"

What is Your Aim?

Young man, what is your aim in this life? Your aim may be high, but the great trouble with so many of you is that you are such poor shots. There is much for you to aim at, but the highest aim of your life should be to live such a life that you will be missed when you die. There are many men today who could be useful mentally, physically and financially, but they live for self and self alone, when they die they will pay out without a murmur. Their greed for gain has given them a deaf ear and a blind eye to all that is pure and noble. Their first consideration in all business transactions is the almighty dollar, and not the good they may do for the friends they may make. Young men, if your aim in life is to make money, matters and how it comes, there will be no doubt about you making it, but when you have amassed a fortune you will doubtless find you have no friends, save for your money. Like the goat on the horn of the ox, the world will know not when you came or when you left. Have a lofty aim in this life; live to do the world some good and to be missed when you die. A kind word, a gentle deed, will cost you nothing and it will live on long after you have left the busy scenes of this life.—Ex.

Don't Be a Second Class Man.

You can hardly imagine a boy saying: "I am going to be a second class man. I don't want to be first class and get the good jobs, the high pay. Second class jobs are good enough for me." Such a boy would be regarded as lacking in good sense if not in sanity. You can get to be a second class man, however, by not trying to be a first class one. Thousands do that all the time, so that second class men are a drag on the market, remarks Success.

Second class things are only wanted when first class can't be had. You wear first class clothes if you can pay for them, eat first class butter, first class meat and first class bread, or, if you don't, you wish you could. Second class men are no more wanted than any other second class commodity. They are taken and used when the better article is scarce or is too high priced for the occasion. For work that really amounts to anything first class men are wanted.

The Baltimore American says that higher education for women never will be a complete success until it learns how to tie up diplomas with ribbons that match the complexions of the fair recipients.

Georgia, Lumpkin County.

To all whom it may concern:

TOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE

Local News.

Summer has come again.

There was a light frost in some parts of this county last week.

Mr. P. P. Catchings of Gainesville, has been up a day or two this week.

The farmers are certainly putting in good time now catching up with their work lost during the rainy days.

Hon. Geo. Bell and lady returned to their homes at Savannah last Saturday, after spending about a week in Dahlonega.

That fellow who hood corn last Sunday, down on Yahola creek, must have forgotten the recent sermon of the preacher here.

Beginning tomorrow the Tule post office will be supplied by the Yahola carrier, being only one and a half miles out of the way.

Mr. J. A. Howard is now assisting in the Dahlonega post office. He is an old hand and can handle mail with a rush correctly.

Remember if your time is out and you don't renew your subscription your name will be out of our list in the next few days.

Our office had a pleasant visit last Friday from Col. Davis of Hiram, Ga., who is over looking up some lands in this county for a client.

The 16th infantry band, which played here last week for the commencement, is the best one that has ever played on these occasions in Dahlonega.

It will be seen by an official notice elsewhere that the general examination of teachers desiring to follow the business, will take place here on June 27th.

Mr. Joe Rickett's turned a kettle of boiling water over on himself the other day, causing him to have to close up his barber shop and bring his crutches into use.

Mr. Berry, father of quiet Berry who graduated here recently, after spending a week in Dahlonega, departed for his home last Monday, in company with his son.

The Gainesville and Dahlonega Railroad Co. will finish its line to the Danlap shaft this week, if nothing happens to the rapid progress of the work that is now going on.

Prof. and Mrs. Steed left for Macon last Monday. Mrs. Clark went to her home in Atlanta and Prof. Barnes departed Tuesday, leaving only three of the college professors in town, we believe—Prof. Boyd, Gaillard and Vickery.

Prof. Rogers left last Monday for his old home down the country to be gone for awhile, taking his vacation and drumming up boys and girls for the next session of the N. G. A. College.

Friday night some twenty or more had a picnic out at Cane creek falls. The weather was most too cool to make it very pleasant, the men having to wear overcoats so as to be comfortable.

The town boys have organized a baseball team. This is what makes corn and vegetables so high if each one engaged would devote their time in raising corn and vegetables, they could supply the market and have something to show for it.

So far no steps have been taken by the board of education of this county to secure the census of Lumpkin, but it is likely that the county school commissioner will do the work, as he tells us he will be able to do so, and the law gives him the preference.

Dahlonega is now a member of the League of Georgia Municipalities, formerly called Mayor's Convention. The next meeting will be held at Macon, Ga., on the 12th of August, 1903. Any mayor or member of the council, whose city belongs to it is eligible as long as its dues are kept paid up. The dues are different amounts, owing to the size of city. Dahlonega's is $2.00.

Mr. Thomas Ray returned to Beaver Ridge, Tenn., to-day.

Dahlonega presents a much duller appearance since the students have left.

Come on all you visitors to Dahlonega who wish a delightful place to spend the summer.

Mrs. Webb, who has been running the Burnside House has moved back to her residence.

Gen. Warner, after an absence of more than a month from Dahlonega, returned last Monday.

Last week Mrs. Dave Franklin paid $2.00 to schedule a $2.50 debt her husband had made for boards.

Rev. Mr. Marks being absent here was preaching at last Sunday church here last Sunday—at the Baptist.

The apple crop in this section will almost be a complete failure, so we are informed by parties living in different parts.

Wanted right away—some chestnut telephone posts. See B. R. Members & Sons. Nothing but green chestnut wanted.

We are glad to state that Mr. Next, Satterfield of Davis district, who has been dangerously sick with typhoid fever, is better.

We have often heard of "It will be a cold day in August when so and so." So it came last Friday. The thermometer registered at 50.

Cadet W. T. Townsend made a speech in the champion debate on Tuesday night of last week. The next morning he woke up with a case of mumps and was unable to go home as he expected.

Mr. James Gaillard of Macon, Ga., was among the visitors here last week for the first time in many years. Seeing him only at a distance we failed to recognize him when he had come and gone before we knew anything about it. Many years not only bring about changes in things but people.

A female battle occurred up in Yahola on Sunday the 17th inst. between Mrs. Jim Walden and Mrs. Jim Robinson, two sisters-in-law. One drew an ax, the other a chair and the old lady jumped in between them with a dish rag and separated them before any damage was done.

The Bell Telephone Co. is going to put the line from here to Gainesville in tip top shape—advertising for the posts now, and Mr. Mendlers, the operator here, informs us that the company is going to build a line from Dahlonega to Dawsonville, which will be of great convenience when the two places are connected by wire.

Capt. Asbury informed us while in town this week, that he had just harvested his wheat and it turned out well. Some years ago the Captain found one stalk of wheat in some oats he had sown and it was of such a fine quality that he saved it for seed, and the third year afterwards he made from one grain of wheat eighteen bushels.

Jack Seabolt was brought in last Thursday and bound over for blackmailing. It seems that the settlement still located in Yahola some time ago, has already given a lot of trouble and how much more we have no idea. It is generally the case where so many have their fingers in the dish. One gets caught and he wants all the others to help bear their share of the burden.

Week before last we clipped an item from the Dawsonville Advertiser, telling of the disappearance of one Mr. Crawford, who had been mining for another gentleman down on the Greenfield property, and had gone to Atlanta for money to pay off his hands and it was thought that he had been foolishly dealt with. We understand that he has been heard of in Tennessee also, as live as a cricket. Hereafter parties having money for mining purposes in this county should deposit it in the Bank of Dahlonega where they can get it themselves without sending a man off so far. Then there would be no trouble.

Mr. W. F. Worley of Gainesville, came up to Dahlonega Tuesday.

A little four-year-old girl of Mr. Sam Head died in Yahola district last Monday.

Mr. Rex, formerly of Dahlonega, is now engaged for the railroad at Beaver Ridge, Tenn.

Mr. Shule, who graduated at the N. G. A. College, not long since, is spending some time here with friends.

Since the tornado at Gainesville Rev. J. W. West could get no work to do for his family and has moved back to this county.

We regret to learn that Mr. J. B. Witt, formerly of this place but now of McCay's Tenn., has been quite sick for near three weeks.

Mrs. Frank Worley after a short visit here, returned to her home in Gainesville this week, accompanied by Mrs. J. H. Worley of Dahlonega.

Having rented my store room first of September to J. H. Hatfield, I now have over $350 worth of shoes, hats and dry goods to sell at actual cost. M. G. HEAD.

Mr. Charlie Hope of Gainesville, has been up this week trading horses and mules with the Gipsies and all other people wishing to change or sell stock.

There are two prisoners in our jail now, Tom Darby, who is charged with stealing some gold down at the Barlow mine quite awhile ago, and Scupin Gaddis, charged with riot.

Sheriff Davis went down to Dawson last Sunday and arrested Scupin Gaddis, who is wanted in Lumpkin county charged with riot, and upon failure to make bond the defendant was placed in jail.

Charlie Anderson's wife, col., has a new way of stopping her husband from quarreling at her by calling in the city marshal. This she did Tuesday night, and the official spent a half hour listening to each one's report.

Hon. Joe Underwood and Capt. Asbury of White county, spent a few hours in Dahlonega last Tuesday. The Captain met some of his old war comrades and they interested a crowd telling of the hardships they endured during the civil conflict.

Col. Farrow passed through Dahlonega on his way from Porter to Gainesville last Monday. The Queen of the Mountains has been open to the public since first of the month and visitors to this most favorite summer resort have commenced arriving.

Tax Collector Walden came in Monday and demanded $25 from the Gipsies who have been for several days trading stock here. They said no other collector had called on them for such tax in Georgia, but they paid over with their trading.

Mr. Frank Mendlers went down to Atlanta this week in the interest of the telephone line from Dahlonega to Dawsonville, which is to be built by the Bell Telephone Co. Instead of building it direct from this place to Dawsonville via Anwar, an effort will be made to have it go by Palmyra and by McKens and on to Dawsonville. It is only about four miles further and will be of more profit to the company.

Last Monday little Louie Mendlers came near losing his life out at Cane creek falls by getting into water over his head. Marshal Harrison, his wife and several children went out. His son, John, and Louie arrived first and when Mr. Harrison and his family got in sight they saw John out on the bank screaming and Louie in the water going down. Mr. Harrison jumped out of his vehicle and ran and just as he got to the waters edge Louie was going down the third time, but fortunately struck higher ground with his head above the water. This broke up the pleasures for the day and all returned to town very nervous.

A very good rainfall here yesterday.

Mrs. Dolba of Marietta, a sister of Mrs. J. S. Stewart, is up on a visit.

We understand that Charlie Jones leaves today to accept a position in St. Louis.

Mr. J. A. Curry of South Carolina, is on a visit to his sister, Mrs. D. J. Blackwell.

Up in Jones' Creek district last Sunday Mr. Geo. Grizzle and Miss Jane Collins were wedded.

Do you wish to take out a life policy or insure your property? If so call on H. B. Crawford.

Willie Reese of Atlanta, has been up on a visit this week to his brother, Mr. Frank L. Reese.

H. L. Coffey has severed his connection with the Signal office and gone to Atlanta to work. Dodge, a son of Rev. C. M. McGowan of this county, was lying at the point of death yesterday of typhoid fever.

Mrs. J. H. McKee has gone to Nelson, Ga., where she will remain for awhile, not expecting to return to Dahlonega until college opens again.

A daily mail from Dahlonega to Goldsboro has been established, which went into effect last Tuesday. It has been needed for some time.

Hon. G. D. Bruce leaves for Atlanta next Monday so as to be on hand at the opening summer session of the legislature, which begins the following Wednesday.

H. B. Crawford succeeds J. S. Stewart in the insurance business, and represents Hartford & Queen Fire Insurance Companies. Also Equitable Life Assurance Society.

At Bruce's gallery you will find for sale different photographs, showing the destruction of the recent cyclone in Gainesville. Those who have not had an opportunity of visiting Gainesville should supply themselves with a lot these photographs.

Mr. John Hatfield has vacated the Consolidated hotel and now occupies the Burnside House, which he has thrown open for the traveling public. Later on Mr. Head will go out of business and Mr. Hatfield will move his store into his stand.

The directors of the Gainesville and Dahlonega Electric Co. meet in Gainesville today and from what we learn mean business. We would not be surprised to learn by this time next week that work had again been resumed on the road to Dahlonega.

Prof. Ansted left with his family yesterday, to the regret of his many friends here who hate to give up the citizenship of such kind, good hearted people. The Professor goes to Toronto, Canada, and his family will remain at Roswell, Ga., until fall, when his wife will join him.

Prof. Martin, after spending a few days in Gainesville returned last Saturday to Dahlonega, where he has decided to spend the summer, bringing with him his mother of Perry, Ga., also his agent, Miss C. P. Mann of the same city, who expects to spend the most of the summer here. We welcome one and all.

The board of trustees of the University elected Prof. Avis last Monday president of the N. G. A. College, as recommended by the board of the latter. Mr. Avis returned to his home in Newark, Delaware, so as to prepare to move to Dahlonega and get ready for the opening of the institution in September, to-day.

Prof. E. S. Ayin of Del., who was recently elected president of the N. G. A. College by the board of trustees, arrived in Dahlonega last Saturday, and has been looking around and getting acquainted with the place and people. The Professor is originally a Virginian and says our red hills reminds him of his old state very much.

Mining Notes.

The bow mill at the Loud mine in White has been completed and is now in operation.

The Ingersoll & Crissom dredge boat is completed and is ready for operation as soon as some plates are received.

Woods and McDonald, two native practical miners, are still profitably engaged at mining down on the Standard property.

Members of the Consolidated will be here today, who are coming with the intention of starting up some of the company's mines.

Mr. Ashley is going to have another new boat built down in Dawson county. Mr. William Ricketts, who has just completed the Ingersoll & Crissom boat, will likely do the job.

Messrs. E. E. Crissom and Colquhoun are engaged in mining near Rail Hill, in search of what is known as the Johnson vein which was said to be very rich when lost many years ago. One very good vein has already been discovered.

All the ditch work and flume lines of the Cavender Creek canal were completed last week, and the way would be clear now if the tunnel was completed. But as it is mostly rock, and very hard, it will be some time yet before it is done, the drilling having to be done by hand which makes its progress very slow. They aim to begin the reservoir about the first of next month, so we are informed.

There is enough low grade ore at the Findley mine to run a reasonable size mill for years and years, saying nothing of the rich vein which, by its great yield of gold has excited the people both far and near. But it is idle for the lack of water. Some years ago a canal run to this mine and when it changed ownership and went into the hands of the Consolidated the center of attraction was down at the Hand and the water was cut off from both the Findley and Barlow mines for the Hand, the biggest mistake that was ever made in mining here.

But few people here realize the magnitude of Mr. Ashley's mica mine in this county. The shaft or incline is about ninety feet deep, mica from the top to the bottom and still continues. It is being hauled to the railroad and shipped off as fast as it is taken out. Mica is found in many other places in Lumpkin county but little attention has been given it until recently. Mica is a very valuable mineral and those owning property containing it should begin to do some development work. We will have a railroad after awhile and then you who are too far away from one now to make shipments profitable, will, by doing some work now, be able to show up your property, hasten the building of a road and be ready to make money when it is completed.

We are pleased to learn that the ore at Crown Mountain is improving considerably. The partial clean up of the flumes and the overcharge of gold on the plates last week resulted much better than the former, which is very encouraging to all concerned. It is just like we have stated before. There is no trouble about Crown Mountain paying good dividends when sufficient power is had to keep the mill running at all seasons of the year, and an effort is being made in this direction now by the construction of the Gorge dam. They have been engaged for sometime getting in the logs and now have about three hundred on the ground ready for use. The present power is getting weak and if it doesn't rain within the next few days it looks like they will have to close down the plant again. This is to be regretted as the summer season is the main time to make money gold mining, while the weather is favorable.

Later.—It rained at several places in the county yesterday, and as long as the water holds out sufficiently to furnish the power the Crown Mountain plant will keep running.

The N. G. A. College Alumni.

DAHLONEGA, GA., June 14th, 1903.

MR. EDITOR:

On June 9th, 1903, the regular annual meeting of The Alumni Society of the North Georgia Agricultural College, resolutions were read, discussed, and enthusiastically passed to establish a scholarship at our Alma Mater, valued at one hundred and fifty dollars per annum from this date. The money for this scholarship is to be raised by annual contributions from the Alumni of this college. Every Alumnus will be asked and expected to participate in this noble cause. With but one exception, all the members of the Society, who were present, gladly subscribed annual contributions ranging from two to five dollars, the majority contributing five dollars each. Others have subscribed since, making the sum now promised about twenty dollars. We are depending upon the absent members for remainder of the required amount, and we believe they will respond substantially and heartily. Our lady members subscribed liberally. Two of them five, and two others two and one-half dollars each.

An executive committee, consisting of the president, secretary, treasurer and three other members of the Alumni Society, was appointed to raise and apply the money for the scholarship fund. The following members compose the Executive committee: E. B. Vickery, J. W. Boyd, Mrs. W. F. Crissell, R. M. Bryson, Dr. M. N. Stow, and Miss Marie Gaillard.

Money or subscriptions sent to J. W. Boyd, Mr. M. N. Stow, or E. B. Vickery, all at Dahlonega, Georgia, will be duly received and reported to the Executive Committee.

The beneficiary of this scholarship fund must be competent to pursue advantageously the studies prescribed by some one of the lower classes in this college under its present organization, and unable, financially, to otherwise maintain himself or herself in college.

Furthermore, the beneficiary must promise and agree to pursue the best literary course offered by the college and continue the course till graduation. Miss Lizzie Shed, has been selected and will enter upon her course of studies next September, as our student. The selection of Miss Shed meets the hearty approval of all who know the young lady and her opportunities.

The female department of our college was strongly and unanimously endorsed by the Alumni Society, and it urges the trustees to retain and foster the same.

A sincere vote of thanks was given, Hon. W. F. Crissell, and Miss Marie Gaillard, our orator and essayist for the commencement just closed for the able and scholarly manner in which they represented us before the audience on Monday night of commencement.

E. B. VICKERY, Sec'y.

The flood in Missouri has been terrible, and the loss of property great, besides many deaths. Mr. El. Worley, formerly of Dahlonega, who is employed in a drug store in Kansas City, writes this week that the water had been ten feet deep in his place of business, and the building is four feet from the ground. The streets presented the appearance of great rivers and people traveled about in boats. We prefer to remain in Lumpkin county. Persons may get rich faster in other countries but they may be relieved of it all in a single day or night by either flood or drought.

The other day while Mr. Rem Stargel of this county, was out in the woods looking for a bee tree and gazing up at the trunk of a sturdy chestnut, his attention was directed to a big rattlesnake at the root of the tree, slithering hungrily by the shake of its tail that it had been disturbed. Mr. Stargel killed it and made a straight course home, looking for no more bees.

Nerve Food Not Needed.

No class of people is more essentially the victim of those to whom the world owes a living than physicians. And many of the latter have organized a mutual protective association for the collection of fees, says the New York Commercial. This story is told apropos of a recent experience of the eminent Dr. Shrady whose time brings a high price per minute.

An innocuous youth visited his office in search of relief from physical ills and, after giving due consideration to his numerous symptoms, the doctor wrote out a prescription to be filled by the druggist. Handing it over, he was about to summon the next patient from an overflowing office, when the young man remarked:

"Doctor, I'm in a fix, and I haven't the money to pay for getting this filled. How much will it cost?"

"About a dollar," remarked the physician.

"Do you think you could lend me the dollar, then?"

"Let me see the prescription," said the doctor, and, taking it, he proceeded to make a number of changes.

"There, that will do, now," said he.

"Why did you change it, Dr. Shrady?"

"Well, young man, I thought you needed those drugs for your nerve—but now I perceive that I was mistaken, and I am glad to rectify my error."

An Allegory.

Now, upon a time, says Judge, there were two swains, and each loved the same fair lady. Upon a day they came unto the dais and the first made speech unto her, saying:

"Behold, I am consumed with the fires of devotion for you. I would go to the ends of the world for you."

Whereat she responded, "Go." And he went out in a great happiness, believing that when he had sought the end of the world he should have her hand.

Then came to her side the second swain, much cast down in spirit and exceedingly heavy of heart.

"Oh, fair one!" he sighed, "I would not go to the end of the world for you, but I would go to the end of the world with you!"

"Come," she said.

This teaches us that the way to make 'em happy is to make 'em happy with us.

Turkish Cruelty.

The following is one day's work of Turkish soldiers upon the Hebrews:

About 800 houses were burned and upwards of 200 persons, mostly women and children, were killed. The women and girls were murdered while resisting outrage.

Whole households were slain. One family of seven were slain and their bodies heaped on the hearth. Not a living soul was left in the village. The survivors, many of the half-burned or otherwise injured, fled.

Some of the fleeing villagers were captured and had their ears and noses cut off before they were butchered.

The report adds that 1,200 villagers were in the mountains without clothing or food. One band of these, consisting of forty women and children, was caught by soldiers and killed after horrible treatment.

Rev. E. R. Caswell, a well known Georgia Baptist divine, has been practically expelled from his denomination and the ordination papers, under which he has filled so many Georgia pulpits, have been demanded. The request for the ordination papers and expulsion came from a Baltimore church as the result of sensational charges which have been recently filed against Mr. Caswell, in which his morals are said to be involved.

Got His Money Back.

E. M. Wiggins, a Joplin man, lost and recovered $20 in an unusual way a few days ago, says the Kansas City Journal. He had the odd habit of carrying his surplus cash in the sweatband of his hat. He had $20 thus hidden the other day when he laid his hat down in a restaurant to eat.

When he got up, by mistake he wore away another man's hat. For several days he kept a sharp watch for the man he had exchanged with. Finally he was walking north on Main street when a hat came sailing from a su electric car, followed by a stranger, who was angrily muttering: "By gosh, I wish the guy that stole my hat would fetch it back."

Immediately removing the one he had on he said: "Ain't this yours?"

"By gum, it is!" was the reply. Wiggins then made a grab for the other hat, and, on turning down the sweatband, found that sure enough, his twenty "plunks" were still there. He will patronize a bank hereafter.

A Way of Explaining It.

Wife—Why, John, just see what a stupid blunder the newspaper has made in its account of our silver wedding! Don't you remember I wrote it out for the reporter that we had spent together twenty-five years of married happiness, and the stupid typewriter has gone and made it twenty-five years of married happiness. Isn't it awful!

Reflections of A Bachelor.

Good figures are not what they are dressed up to be.

When they are down in the world a man is cowed, a woman defiant.

A hammock is built for two, even when it isn't big enough for one.

The more sisters a man has the more men he feels sorry for as they get married.

A Missouri woman sat up until 1 o'clock the other night waiting for her husband to come home. Then she gave it up and went up stairs, only to find him in bed fast asleep. "His deception," as she called it, made her so mad that she didn't speak to her husband for three days. But what else could the foolish man expect!

An old bachelor says that no man is the only animal afflicted with the bargain hunting habit.

Reminded Him of Childhood.

Rev. Sam P. Jones delivered a lecture in Augusta one night last week. Among other things, he said:

"Society eats the heart out of women like whiskey eats the heart out of men. The society woman is little better than the Florida alligator. A man has been thrown off on when he gets for a wife a society girl and a poodle dog. He now favors the dance for some folk. He believes in cultivating the biggest thing, and with some it was their feet."

"Women had cut off so much of the top of their dresses for the ball room, and so much of the bottom of it for the bicycle skirt that he was getting afraid. A country cousin went to the city ball, and after dancing for several hours in the whirl, came out on the porch and declared to his friend that he had never seen the like since he was weaned."

A minister in Brooklyn says that fifty thousand a year sends a man to the devil. "That," remarks the Baltimore American, "if it is true, is the special train but is justice to his satanic majesty, the minister should remember that he is by no means illiberal with his cheap excursion rates."

Grip's

Grim Grasp Caused Heart Disease.

Could Not Lie On Left Side.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nerve Cured Me.

Mrs. H. R. John, formerly of Birmingham, Ala., writes from Eldridge, the same state, as follows:

"It is with the greatest pleasure that I recommend Dr. Miles' Nerve and Heart Cure. I only wish that I could tell every sufferer how much good they have done me. Last winter I had a severe attack of Grippe, which left my heart in a very bad condition. I could not lie down for the smothering spells that would almost overcome me and the feeling of oppression came on me and I had not been so that I could lie on my left side for a long time. I got your Heart Cure and took three bottles. I have no trouble now with my heart and can lie on my left side as well as my right. Formerly I had suffered for years with nervous prostration. I had tried so many remedies that I had got almost out of heart, expecting anything that would help me. The nerve of my heart were so affected that sometimes it would lose beats so it would seem to stop altogether. It was on the advice of a lady friend that I tried your Restorative Nerve. I felt better after the first few doses and two bottles of Nerve and one of Heart Cure made me feel like a new person. My heart is all right and my nervousness is all gone. I never felt so comfortable as I do after taking it. I would like to tell it to others afflicted as I was."

Dr. Geo. Ewing, a practicing physician at Smith's Grove, Ky., for over thirty years, writes his personal experience with FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE: "For years I have been greatly bothered with kidney and bladder trouble and enlarged prostate gland. I used everything known to the profession without relief, until I commenced to use FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE. After taking three bottles I was entirely relieved and cured. I prescribe it now daily in my practice and heartily recommend its use to all physicians for such troubles, for I can honestly state I have prescribed it in hundreds of cases with perfect success."

Had to Get Up Several Times Every Night

Mr. F. Arnold, Arnold, Ia., writes: "I was troubled with kidney disease about three years. I was nervous and all run down, and had to get up several times during the night, but three bottles of FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE effected a complete cure. I feel better than I ever did and recommend it to my friends."

TRIPLETS—BOYD, FLOYD AND FLOY.

The above is a picture of the triplets of Mr. and Mrs. John Hester of Chastate district of Lumpkin county. These little ones are two boys and one girl. The little girl being the one in the right hand side of the photograph. They were born on the 19th and 19th of April, 1900, and the mother of the babies died on the 11th day of May, 1900. Leaving these helpless little ones in the hands of Mrs. William Allison who is the great aunt of the babies, and aunt of the father of the infants, who she also raised. The children's names are Boyd, Floyd and Floy.

Besides these children, Mr. Hester has three others, the eldest a bright little girl of 19 years, named Mary, and two more boys named James and William J., aged respectively 9 and 4 years. All of these and their father live together with Mr. Allison and his wife and daughter in a little house up in the mountains which is about 1500 feet square, making a total of eleven people living there together, daily crowded for room.

On the 20th of May, Judge Hall, our ordinary, went up to find out the needs of the babies, as they had been reported to him to be worthy objects of charity. As a consequence of the trip he bought for the county a cow and turned it over to Mrs. Allison to be used for the children. They now have the cow, which is a good one and are getting plenty of milk and are growing fine. Judge Hall also sent them a few other things. Mrs. W. H. C. Tate, Mrs. T. S. Littlefield and Mrs. Mary Meaders have all been very kind to these helpless, little ones, and each have sent them many useful and dainty articles of clothing which they very much needed and which was appreciated fully by the ones in charge of the little infants.

Photographs of these triplets can be had for 25 cents each at Bruce's Gallery, Dahlonega, Ga.

Not Chronic.

The Squire was trying to secure a pension for a needy old widow, says a writer in Lippincott's. A Doctor was an important witness. He cheerfully accompanied the applicant to the Squire's office, and stated what he knew about the army record of her husband. The Squire took time to flip the papers, and when the Doctor went to sign them he found that what he had stated was but little figure. The Squire had given full rule to his knowledge of what must be proved if he was to succeed.

"But I can't swear to that, Squire; that isn't what I told you at all." Then he repeated the whole statement.

The Squire apologized and agreed to fix the papers over again. When he finished them and sent for the Doctor, the witness discovered a good many changes in verbiage, but very little in substance. The Squire had again told the story as he wanted it.

The doctor grew wrath, and used a few ones words, assuring the Squire that he was a d—d rascal, and didn't purpose committing perjury.

"Now, look her, Doc! You have a chance to do this poor old woman a great service. She needs that money very badly. You are the only witness left on earth that can do her any good. You know a good deal, but not enough. Don't stick in the bark, Doc, good, and won't hurt you. No, sir; I pledge you my word that a man of your temperament will get over it in less than twenty minutes."

Two Late With The Dollar.

"Hurry up with your fare," cried the conductor of a Broadway car to a passenger boy with a big bundle under his arm, says the New York Press.

"I'll give it to you in a minute," returned the boy. But as he searched in his pocket his face grew scarlet. "It's in my other suit wrapped up in this paper," he exclaimed.

"None of that," interrupted the conductor. "You'll have to get off."

"Wait a minute, conductor, and see if he isn't telling the truth," said a prosperous looking man.

Mindful the boy, his face redder still, unrolled his bundle and proceeded to rummage through the pockets of the old uniform. At last he fished out a nickel. "You are an honest boy," said the prosperous looking man. "Here's a dollar."

The messenger boy looked at the dollar and then at the man. "Not if I know it," he exclaimed loud enough for everybody on the car to hear. "I don't want no pay for him! best. Besides you're too late while coin. When you see that guy about to put me off, say I don't you come across with a nickel! Keep your old dollar till I ask you for it."

Then the prosperous looking man also got red in the face.

Woman by a Woman.

If women's brains were as strong as their hearts, the combination would conquer heaven.

Extreme amiability in women is either stupidity or a social or matrimonial axe to grind.

Women are a study—men are an understudy.

The divination of the heavens is A, B, C compared to the divination of women.

The head woman attracts us. The heart woman fastens us.

As an individual woman is divine. As a sex, she is a bore.

When a man is divorced, the woman "poor thing" him and put on an extra smile. When a woman is divorced, the men all wink and wonder what there is in it!

Wasn't it a foxy design of some one's that made widow's weeds so becoming?

If women were judges of men, there would be no marriages. If men were judges of women—but that is an inconceivable proposition!

A man is born generous, just, forgiving. A woman has to have every one of these virtues pounded into her with a sledge hammer.

Men take themselves so seriously! It is very amusing to the woman who fears him rail at the coffee, blame the laundry man, and turn the house topsy, tummy when he has the toothache.—Nettie Seesley-Murphy, in Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

Recent developments in the post office department at Washington are supplemented by an interesting story from New York. It is to the effect that Postmaster Van Cott's son is drawing a salary $5,000 a year for an unauthorized office. Mr. Van Cott, Jr., has an income from investments of $20,000 a year, but the ease with which $5,000 a year can be drawn from the federal treasury when a man is a ring republi can was too tempting to be resisted. While the postmaster general was shutting up a post office in Mississippi because the negro postmistress alleged she was afraid, after having held the office un molested for several years, and discontinuing a Tennessee rural free delivery route because two men held up a carrier, the people were being robbed by political favorites in Washington. How much racialism has been covered up or pushed into the background by getting up a sensation about the colored brother to take the people's attention will probably not be known until there is a change in the political complexion of the administration.—Savannah News.

The most miserable failure in life is the man who always acts on the advice of others and never follows his own.

A Road To Pyrites Mine.

Failing to agree upon terms of freight rates for ore with the Gainesville and Dahlonega Electric railway company, Messrs. Scott, Baldwin & Pratt, who own extensive and profitable pyrites mines eight miles from Dahlonega, toward Cleveland, have succeeded in interesting the Southern Railway Company sufficiently in the project of constructing a railroad from some point on the Southern's main line to their ore fields, to begin a survey of the proposed extension.

A corps of civil engineers and attachés, with a complete camp and full equipment, went to work surveying the road Monday morning. The crew is now at work between the city and the Chattahoochee river. The camps are located at Gower Springs for the present, but next week will be moved across the river.

The line of the survey is already roughly run, and as indicated by the surveyors will begin at a point 500 feet north of the station at Gainesville, running to the old Fair Grounds, through that property, on to the City Park, by Longstreet Heights alongside the electric line, and down Cry Creek to the river. The line of the survey will cross the Chattahoochee at Stringer's Ford, and run up Little River Valley to Aaron Pass, on to near Murrayville and to the Pyrites mine. The surveyors say they may also run a branch line into Dahlonega.—Eagle.

Neither is our mining interest losing ground. We are to have a new lot of prospectors with us this week again, in connection with the Briar Patch property.

We think we can say that we are progressing a little in the interest of our school. We began our summer term on June 13th, and we now have twenty five scholars at the beginning of the second week. One of our patrons sent four pupils the first day. Grand is the worthy cause and we hope that the interest will still increase, for every community is measured by the standard of its public school.

On last Monday night a northern mob of four thousand men and boys, led by a Virginian, battered down the prison doors at Wilmington, Delaware, and led out a negro and burned him to the stake who had assaulted and murdered a white girl. Four of the mob lost their lives while approaching the prison walls, but this didn't stop the others.

Some photographs from persons residing in Gainesville were found in the upper edge of White county after the cyclone.

The trustees of the N. G. A. College are using their best efforts now, and mean to have one of the best managed institutions in the south, where education is free to all.

The denial of preacher Ridley last week of being guilty of taking pictures on Sunday and receiving pay for the same, has brought on more talk. The facts are these: Mr. Ridley lives in Fannin county instead of Lumpkin, and preached at Mt. Airy on Saturday instead of Sunday. But he did take a picture for young Mr. Walden, a son of Mr. John Walden, in this county, on Sunday as was stated, which can be proved beyond a doubt. The taking of the picture on Sunday would have been too bad for even a country editor instead of a man who professes to be a preacher, and then denying it, makes the offense still worse and a very bad example indeed.

Up to Saturday 114 cars of peaches and plums had passed through Macon via the Central road to Philadelphia and New York.

One of the most important acts to come before the present legislature is the child labor bill. For some time we were opposed to it, but learning more about the matter we think it should become a law. There are too many little children put into the cotton mills to labor very often for their father who idles about and drinks liquor.

There was a wholesale pill delivery in Gainesville Monday night, five prisoners making their escape by breaking through the bottom of the cells, entering a lobby and going out through a window. Those who escaped were: Sloan Earl, charged with felony; J. G. Bryant, Walt Davis, Robert Gill, all negroes, charged with misdemeanors, and Zeb Patterson, charged with three misdemeanors.

A letter written from LaGrange, Ga., July 24, 1902, by J. T. Johnson to Rev. R. O. Smith, in which the writer enclosed a small amount of money to the addressee was found by Mr. Benjamin Palmour, of this place, at a point on the Blue Ridge called Rice's Cabin, near the White and Towns county line, more than forty miles from the scene of the tornado. The letter is in the hands of Col. J. W. H. Underwood and the money in the possession of Mr. J. M. Palmour, the father of the young man who found the letter. We request that the press assist in finding the owner if he survived the storm, and if not, then the property heir.—Cleveland Courier.

One day last week Sheriff Davis went up to Rabun and arrested J. M. Robison, who is wanted in this county, charged with selling mortgaged property. He made bond.

Mrs. J. B. Witt, of this place, received a message Monday, stating that her husband was dangerously ill at McCoy's, Tenn., and her and her son left at once for that place.

We understand that Gen. Warner anticipates moving down to Mr. Hulseys, between here and Gainesville, where he will be more convenient to his business both here and in Gainesville.

It will be well enough for persons not having any business out after 11 o'clock at night, to remember that Mayor Baker means to punish all such, found guilty of violating the ordinance which prevents it.

The railway out to the Dunlap shoals was not completed last week as was expected, but most likely is done by this time. Mr. J. F. Moore and Gen. Warner went down Saturday and directed in laying off the track out at the river.

Mr. Green Abernethy of this county, who got hurt at the Gainesville Cotton mill some time ago, is in a bad fix and unable to earn a single cent. This was caused by a falling ladder which he was on, mauling his hip in such a manner as to prevent him from earning any part of a living. He has sued the company for $5,000, through his attorneys, Messrs. Gaillard & Perry.

Last Monday as Col. P. Price was returning from Auraria he was caught out in a severe storm, quite a distance from any one's house. The wind blew so he had to let the buggy top down to keep the vehicle from blowing over and was thoroughly drenched with the rain. A fire was blown across the road and no way to pass around it until he sent the little boy, that was with him, back to a colored man's house and waited until two men could clear the road. The law requires that all trees near the road be cut down, but little attention is paid to it in this section.

Both chickens and eggs are scarce in Dahlonega now, and have been for a week or two.

Rob Howell and Tom Smith, both colored, and Will Ward were put into the lock up Saturday night by assistant marshal Geo. Walker, for being out after 11 o'clock at night. They were released Sunday morning to appear again Monday, when the two negroes were fined one and cost each. Ward failed to appear.

Lewis H. Cochran, of Dal, passed through the city Sunday last enroute to Hot House to see his best girl. On his return Monday evening he seemed to be feeling good and spent the night in the city, being the guest of Allen Brothers. Lewis is just from college at Dahlonega, and judging from the way he talks agriculture, he will some day be a model agriculturist.—Blue Ridge World.

One day last week Mr. John Montgomery of this county, killed a large rattler in the edge of his yard. His sons were heard singing but thought it was a dry weather fly, and was parting the weeds to see what was disturbing the chickens, when she got right on it almost, but fortunately it made no effort to bite her, although it was mad and singing, being disturbed by the chickens. It was certainly a narrow escape.

On Monday Fred Trammell, a colored female was up before Mayor Baker for being drunk last Sunday a week ago, over at Mari Hashaws, a favorite resort for many who wish to do mischief when they get to drinking. This woman got so wild she had to be tied. A witness swore that she didn't do much of any thing and Mayor Baker said he would give her a job on the streets for 50 days unless she paid a fine of one and cost.

Mrs. Sarah Davis, sister of Mr. David Prentiss of this county, died recently in Knoxville, Tenn., and was brought back to Union for burial. In three days afterwards one of her daughters also died and was shipped to her former home and placed by the side of her mother. They both died from a relapse of the measles. Mrs. Prentiss' husband died in Union county about eight years ago, and for a long while the lady and her daughters would raise produce and haul and sell it in Atlanta, a distance of about ninety miles. This sad death will be deeply regretted by their many friends in Lumpkin county.

In addition to the $250 sent to Gainesville from Dahlonega for the cyclone sufferers, Mrs. W. P. Price, Jr., added $10.00 more for fear they wouldn't have enough. Mrs. Price never lets an opportunity of this kind pass. She is always ready and willing to help the needy, both at home and abroad.

Dahlonega is now surrounded with country stores, buying all the produce they can get and ship it to Gainesville, greatly cutting off our city's supply, which will necessitate the merchants here to pay cash for barter in order to get it, for country people are not coming here to trade when they can get goods at their own doors as cheap, if not cheaper than Dahlonega.

Dr. Avis, the new president of the N. G. A. College, intended returning home last Thursday but owing to having to attend to some business of importance to the college, didn't get off until Saturday. Although the Doctor remained here only about a week, causing his acquaintance to be very short, nevertheless the general impression is that he is the right man in the right place.

The large commodious hotel belonging to the Consolidated Co., has been leased by the board of trustees of the N. G. A. College for a term of two years. The contract was entered into between its managers and the board here last Friday. At this hotel or dormitory, all boys under the age of 18 will be required to stay. It is a fine, comfortable building and one of the most delightful places in Dahlonega. We believe this to be a wise move. Here the smaller boys can be kept together under the watchful eye of some of the college professors and will not have any chance to run all over town at night.

Mr. John H. Moore is preparing to build him an up-to-date barn.

H. B. Crawford succeeds J. S. Stewart in the insurance business, and represents Hartford & Queen Fire Insurance Companies. Also Equitable Life Assurance Society.

Mr. Dodge Ferguson died at his father's residence, a few miles above Dahlonega, last Thursday afternoon of typhoid fever. We tender to the parents and all kindred our heartfelt sympathy.

The hotels and boarding houses of Dahlonega are prepared to care comfortably for a large number of summer visitors at very reasonable rates. The gates of the city are thrown open to you.

When you come to Dahlonega and wish a first class hotel to stop at, go to the Dahlonega kept by Mrs. John Hatfield. It is newly furnished and the table is supplied with the best the country affords. See ad. elsewhere for rates.

Mr. J. P. Moore will soon begin some needed improvements on his residence, which is to add three more rooms, by raising the wall of his kitchen and dining room to a two story. Mr. Wm. Rickerts will do the job.

Some time ago a Standard Oil Co. man came up to Dahlonega with a load of oil and supplied the market, agreeing to make a visit every two weeks from Gainesville. But if he started he is lost for he has never been seen here but once.

Prof. Rogers, who has been occupying the chair of agriculture at the N. G. College for the past several months, sent in his resignation to the board of trustees recently. We regret this very much, for the Professor is a fine gentleman and filled his position to the letter.

For several weeks Messrs. Anderson & Jones of Dahlonega have been engaged in taking options on lands for the United States Leather Co. They now have options on over thirty odd thousand acres and expect to increase it to 50,000. Experts, representing the United States Leather Co., are now out in the county examining the lands recently optioned to Anderson & Jones. When they make an investigation we can tell you more about it.

Three negroes have paid out fifteen dollars this week for being up viewing the city of Dahlonega after 11 o'clock at night. If it keep on this way long negroes, after a late hour, will be as scarce as 'possums on a moonshiny night.

You will find Hall's Villa a large commodious building and one of the most pleasant places for summer visitors in Dahlonega. Write for terms to J. F. Castleberry if you wish to spend the summer in our beautiful mountain city.

Mr. F. V. Moore and Alonzo Benson have been carrying their arms in sailing this week. Alonzo got one of his fingers stove up while playing base ball and Mr. Moore cut his arm while trimming off some limbs preparing to fix up his tomato plants. Quite a difference in the business they were following. One was fixing to produce vegetables and the other pain and illness.

A message was received from Gainesville this week calling for a lot of hands who wanted to work. They are fixing to clear away the debris in the path of the cyclone and rebuild as fast as possible. In a year, or less time, the now barren ground will be covered with nice new buildings and the people will resume the same mode of prosperity as they enjoyed before the terrific cyclone that brought death and ruin.

We had the pleasure last week of meeting Mr. Cassidy of Nashville, Tenn., who is here in search of timbered lands. He desires no options but proposes to pay the cash down at once, but as other gentlemen have been taking options on nearly all the timbered lands of this county, it will be difficult for him to procure such property. Mr. Cassidy desires to purchase no mineral property, yet in does not want any land with the mineral reserved.

Mining Notes.

The coin on the Consolidated, being worked by Billie Riley, is getting richer.

Jacob Loggins is still engaged on the Calhoun property and has some splendid shows.

Bryson and Teal are engaged at work on the Turkey Hill property, meeting with good results.

A Mr. Conway, who owns the Newton lot adjoining the celebrated Jones mine, has five prospectors busy at work now developing this property.

Henry Sparks, Jake Sparks and Lewis Price are engaged entering a drain tunnel of about two hundred feet to a rich vein down on the Ivey. This vein is very rich.

Mr. Bruce, with five hands, is mining near the Barlow on a lead called the "awindling vein." Quite a lot of good ore has been taken out ready for the mill.

Mr. Courtney was in town Saturday night, and states that about two pounds of gold was cleaned up at the Loud mill Saturday afternoon after about four days beating.—Cleveland Courier.

The new dredge boat of Ingersoll & Crison in the Chestatee river, was started up this week. The dipper takes up a ton, and a fourth every three minutes, which gives you an idea of what it is doing. The mining business in the vicinity of Auraria, in this county, is going to be lively now. A number of the members of the Briar Patch Co. have been down this week and the general manager informed us last Tuesday that they were going to work in earnest right away. We are glad to learn of this movement, for this is too valuable a gold mine to be idle any longer. There is plenty of gold there and they are bound to succeed with the proper management.

The most modern machinery is now being installed down at the Etowah Gold Mining Co., near Auraria, under the supervision of Mr. Craig R. Arnold, general manager. This mine was formerly known as the Betz, where a shaft of several hundred feet has been sunk and the ore continues good all the way down. It is expected to have the mill in operation by the first of August. There is no other machinery like it in this country, and the crusher is much larger than the one at Crown Mountain or Hand, being shipped from the great city of London, and all the machinery is said to be the best in this whole section.

Messrs. Ainslie and Breyman, large stockholders in the Consolidated, Standard and Syndicate Companies, have lost no idle moments since being in our city. They are getting ready for business right away. Mr. Rosenthal, another stockholder and director, remained with them until Tuesday. As stated in a previous issue of the STOKER, a test of a thousand pounds of ore from the Bonning was made recently by the Tuleride Reduction Co., at Colorado Springs, which showed it to be worth $40 per ton, thirty-eight of it was saved. Some of this ore was carefully assayed here before and only a little over $20 per ton could be saved. This gives an idea of the value of one of these reduction plants in the handling of the ore at this mine. The company will install one or more of them here. The property owned by the Syndicate comprises the Bast, Lockhart, Ivey and we believe the Chestatee, besides all the city property purchased last from Capt. Hall. Being among the most valuable mining lands in the gold belt here. These gentlemen, Capt. Ingersoll and four or five others, own this property. Preparations are being made to organize a company under a new name and go to work, first at the Bast and Lockhart. The latter is said, by those who know, to be the best deep mine in the county, a shaft already having been sunk to a considerable depth. They are men of business sense and we feel confident that they will meet with success.

All Rot.

An Alabama preacher has announced that hereafter he will preach only the truth at funerals, and that he does not propose to make immaculate saints of hell-bound sinners.

That's all right. Whenever a preacher or an editor starts out to tell the entire truth in either funeral notices or wedding announcements there will be something doing. And yet there will be a happy medium which will meet the demand for reform. It certainly should be disgusting to read some of the sickening slush which appears whenever a couple get married, and thus advertising of the bride as the fairest specimen of womanhood in all Alabama, when she is probably pug-nosed and freckle-faced and so darning pigeon-toed that her tracks point east when she is going south, is just a little too strong to suit well on the average human. The same thing happens when the preacher unobscures a notoriously bad citizen right into the pearly gates, and to the living is a sham, while it doesn't do any good to the dead.

No sense is shown by a lot of long-winded resolutions or respect signed by people who would not associate with the man or woman whose life is a good thing, but this overdoing of the thing is to be deplored.—Buchanan Tribune.

The President's Salary.

Many people believe that the $50,000 a year which the President gets as his salary is the sum total. This is a mistake. $50,000 is given him, in addition to his salary of $50,000, to pay the salaries of his subordinates and clerks. His private secretary is paid $3,500, his assistant private secretary $2,250, his stenographer $1,800, five messengers, each $1,200; a steward $4,200, four other clerks, good salaries; one telegraph operator, two ushers $1,200 and $1,400, a night usher $1,200, a watchman $600, and a man who takes care of the fire receives $864 a year. In addition to this there is given $5,000 for incidental expenses, such as stationery, carpets and the care of the presidential stables. Under another heading he receives nearly $40,000 more. Of this $12,500 is for repairs and refurbishing the White House, $2,500 for fuel, $4,000 for the greenhouse, $15,000 for gas, matches and stable. The White House all told costs the country, in connection with the President, something over $125,000 a year.

As a get-rich-quick scheme, Chicago journalism is not to be disregarded. Twelve years ago James Kewley began work on the Chicago Tribune as night police reporter. To-day he is publisher of the paper. Eight or nine years ago John T. McCutcheon began making drawings for the Chicago press, which he gladly sold for $1 to $2 each. A few days ago Kewley closed a contract with McCutcheon for three years under the terms of which the artist is to receive $20,000 a year for one cartoon a day to be published in the Tribune. This gives McCutcheon an average of about $200 per cartoon—very creditable pay for a day's work. McCutcheon, by the way, is the creator of "Little Peterkin," whom he seems to have divorced since he achieved the distinction of war artist and correspondent with Dewey in the Manila campaign.—Savannah News.

When a man decides on a course of sin he mortgages himself to the devil. The mortgage may run a good while. A man may be permitted to pay an enormous amount of interest in anxiety and pain and disease and shame and remorse while he stays off the fatal day but some day the mortgage will be foreclosed. Then hidden secrets begin to flash out like electric lights in the darkness, and all the story of his traffic with Satan begins to unfold.—E. E.

To Stimulate Advertising.

The Buffalo Express has introduced a unique advertising feature that should recommend itself to many other dailies as well as to merchants generally. They head a certain department, "Our City's Show Window," with a suggestive attempt in illustrations at same. Below are given in bold type the words "Today in Buffalo." Then come "The Weather," "City Lights," "Entertainment," "Meetings" and "Yesterday." Below this and at each side are brief ads, most of which are illustrated. Of course these do not take the place of the full page, half page, column or even half column ad, which appears as usual. But many not hitherto advertisers will be led to commence in this small way, and as the entire space seems virtually a daily directory of the most important local events transpiring few of the really enterprising business tradesmen of the city will probably care to be left out. It is an idea which may be characterized as bright.—Retailer and Advertiser.

Lost At Both Ends of Line.

Mr. W. A. Carille, chief engineer in charge of the Gainesville & Dahlonega Electric Railway Company, was hit hard by the storms of flood and whirl. Besides the damage suffered by his company in the Gainesville tornado, Mr. Carille lost considerable by the flood in Kansas City, where he and his brother had a large commission house, in which the water rose ten or more feet and ruined a large quantity of hay, grain, provisions, etc.—Gainesville News.

A Stroudsburg, Pa., woman the other day ran away from her husband with another man. She explains that she did it because she wanted to convert the other man to Christianity and she couldn't do it while she remained at home. And, oddly enough, the deserted husband does not feel aggrieved. He says if it will save a soul he is perfectly willing for nations to take their course. What peculiar things are sometimes done in the name of religion, says the Savannah News.

An indictment was last week found by the Fulton county grand jury against G. Hallman Sims with the embezzlement of $22,000 from the Capital City National Bank while that bank was a state institution, and he will be tried on this charge after he is released from the federal prison, where he is now serving time for embezzlement from that bank after it became a national institution.

What a perfect old world this would be if each of us were as good as we know we ought to be.

Miss Stone Going Back.

It is said that Miss Ellen Stone, the missionary whose lectures about her experience with brigands in Turkey have been so successful, is soon to return to the country where she was kidnapped, says the Brooklyn Eagle.

Of course, there can be nothing parallel in the cases, but sometimes her reminder me of that of the drowned man whose body was found lodged in an eddy and covered with eels. When the eels had been turned over to the weeping widow as her rightful property she was asked what she desired to have done with her late lamented husband. Removing her apron from her eyes, she said, between sobs and sniffling: "I—I guess you'd better—set him again."

Measured by all human calculation, it would seem that such disasters as those at Gainesville, Ga., and in the Pacolet River Valley, South Carolina, would appeal to the charity of such men as Carnegie and Rockefeller, who have more money than they can spend.—Marietta Journal.

A smile and a frown come at the same price, but the former pays happy interest on the investment.

If inventors of excuses could patent them the patent office would soon furnish employment to every body.

Short of Breath, Faint and Languid.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nerve Cure Me.

"It has been five years since I was cured of heart trouble by your Heart Cure and Nerve Cure. I am just as sound as a dollar in that organ today. For several years I had been suffering with my heart, everything had become short and difficult at times, short, sharp pains about the heart, sometimes accompanied with fluttering would make me feel faint and languid. The best medicine or mental worry would do me no good. I felt that the trouble was growing worse all the time, and after trying many remedies prescribed by physicians without obtaining relief, I was induced to give your medicine a trial. I was relieved the second day, and after taking three or four bottles all symptoms were removed and have never returned. I feel strong and healthy now. There are many symptoms of heart disease, which so closely resemble those of many other nervous disorders as to frequently mislead the attending physician. Often in cases of heart trouble the stomach, kidneys, liver and lungs become affected. Again the symptoms may be those of weakness, nervousness, as tired feeling, sleeplessness, timidity, the patient is easily excited and apt to worry without cause. You fear the heart condition that your heart is weak, made very nervous and again those of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, the first, heart and blood tonic, without a day's delay.
